ICJ: COUNTRIES HARMED BY CLIMATE CHANGE ENTITLED TO REPARATIONS

The International Court of Justice said affected countries can claim reparations but what they are owed could be determined on a case-by-case basis

U.N. COURT'S LEGAL OPINION, BUT NON-BINDING

In its first ever opinion on climate change, the ICJ said the consequences of climate change are far-reaching as they affect both natural ecosystems and human populations. "These consequences underscore the urgent and existential threat posed by climate change," said judge Yuji Iwasawa while reading out the opinion, which is advisory in nature and non-binding | P12

Shah sets Justice Varma impeachment ball rolling

Meets Birla, Harivansh; Speaker to set up statutory probe committee

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

DAYS after the abrupt resignation of Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar, the government set the ball rolling for the impeachment of Allahabad High Court judge Yashwant Varma with Union minister Amit Shah holding high level meetings with Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla and Rajya Sabha deputy chairman Harivansh Narayan Singh on Wednesday.

Sources said while Birla and Harivansh held a meeting at Parliament to discuss the proceedings, Shah met them later.

According to people familiar with the development, the Lok Sabha Speaker may now initiate the process to set up a statutory committee to examine the charges of corruption levelled against the judge. The committee comprising a senior judge of the Supreme Court, a sitting chief justice of a high court and a distinguished jurist will then probe the charges against him and submit its report in three months.

If the committee finds him guilty, the inquiry report will be tabled in Parliament, followed by a discussion in both Houses after which there will be voting on the motion for the removal of the judge.

The meeting of the presiding officers assumes significance as the impeachment process of Justice Varma reportedly led to the resignation of Dhankhar. Though there was no official word on the reason behind his exit, sources say it is linked to Dhankhar's acceptance of a notice sponsored by the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha, which went against the government's plan to lead the offensive.

While a total of 145 Lok Sabha and 63 Rajya Sabha MPs submitted notices to the presiding officers for the removal of Varma on Monday, Dhankhar took cognisance of the Opposition notice and made a statement in the Rajya Sabha.

Speaking to this newspaper, a senior Rajya Sabha MP said that the notice is active as the Chairman has pronounced it as an order.

In his statement in the Rajya Sabha on Monday, Dhankhar said, "I direct the secretary general to find out whether a similar motion has been moved in Lok Sabha… If the motion is presented in the two houses on different dates, then the motion which is presented in the House first, that alone is taken into consideration and the second motion gets non-jurisdictional," he said, citing the Judges (Inquiry) Act, 1968.

"A notice was given in RS on Justice Verma which he acknowledged and almost admitted it. When the chair has pronounced his ruling that it has fulfilled the stipulated requirement, it's an order," an RS member said

Now, tourist visa for Chinese nationals

JAYANTH JACOB @New Delhi

INDIA will resume issuing tourist visas to Chinese nationals from July 24, in a significant move aimed at normalising strained ties following the deadly 2020 border clashes. The Indian Embassy in Beijing confirmed the decision on Wednesday, marking the first time in five years that Chinese tourists can apply for Indian visas.

The embassy announced that Chinese citizens may now submit applications online and visit Indian Visa Application Centres in Beijing, Shanghai and Guangzhou with the required documents.

Tourist visas were suspended in 2020 amid the Covid-19 pandemic, but the freeze remained in place due to ongoing tensions along the eastern Ladakh border.

The resumption of tourist visas is part of a broader series of confidence-building measures between the two countries. Last month, India and China also resumed the Kailash Manasarovar Yatra after a five-year gap. The thaw began late last year, after Indian and Chinese troops disengaged at key friction points along the Line of Actual Control (LAC), paving the way for diplomatic re-engagement.

China welcomed India's visa announcement. "It is a positive move," said Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Guo Jiakun. "Making cross-border travel easier serves the interests of all parties. China stands ready to maintain communication and coordination with India to keep facilitating people-to-people exchanges between the two countries."

Tourist visas for Indian nationals remained suspended until March, when both sides agreed to restore direct air connectivity. After a meeting between a meeting between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and President Xi Jinping in Russia last October, ties have steadily improved, marked by high-level engagements and confidence building measures.

DECISION AFTER JAISHANKAR'S VISIT

The decision to lift the curbs came after foreign minister S Jaishankar visited China on July 14–15, where he held talks with his Chinese counterpart Wang Yi and Vice President Han Zheng

ED books Myntra, One Sigma for FEMA violation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Directorate of Enforcement (ED), Bengaluru, has filed a complaint against fashion etailer Myntra, and its related entities under the Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA), 1999, for allegedly violating foreign investment rules to the tune of Rs 1654,35,08,981 (Rs 1,654.35 crore) under the guise of wholesale trading. The complaint was filed under Section 16(3) of FEMA.

In another case, ED filed a complaint under Section 16(3) of FEMA against Bengaluru-based 'One Sigma Technologies Pvt Ltd' (SIMPL) and its director Nithya Nand Sharma, for contravention to the tune of Rs 913,75,88,062 (Rs 913.75 crore). The company is behind the popular Buy Now Pay Later (SIMPL) app, which allows customers to buy now and pay later in instalments.

In an official release on Wednesday, the ED stated that inquiry into Myntra's books was initiated on the basis of "credible information that Myntra Designs Private Limited (Myntra) and its related companies are doing Multi Brand Retail Trade (MBRT) in the guise of 'Wholesale Cash & Carry', allegedly in violation of the extant Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) policy".

The ED investigation revealed that Myntra had "declared that they were engaged in the business of wholesale cash & carry and invited and received FDI from foreign investors equivalent to Rs 1,654.35 crore, and that they sold a majority of their goods to Vector E-Commerce Pvt Ltd (which sold the goods in retail to the ultimate customer). Vector E-Commerce and Myntra are related parties and belong to the same group or group of companies".

"Vector was created and continued to be used as a corporate entity to bifurcate the B2C (business to customer i.e Myntra to retail customers) transaction into B2B (Myntra to Vector) and then B2C (Vector to retail customers)," the ED added. CONTINUED ON P5

STATE TO CONDUCT SOCIAL, EDU SURVEY FROM SEPT 22

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE state government has decided to conduct the Social and Educational Survey for 15 days from September 22.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah announced here on Wednesday that the survey will cover all the seven crore people in the state. "The survey will help us draft the next state budget and also plan schemes. The purpose of the survey is to eliminate caste discrimination. It should be a model for the country," he added.

On Wednesday, the chief minister conducted a preparatory meeting with officials concerned and directed them to submit a comprehensive report by October-end. "I have already directed them to begin the preparation work, including training," Siddaramaiah said. He insisted that the survey should be conducted without any glitches and there should be no complaints.

He said the Backward Classes Commission approached the government to conduct the survey, which will include the economic status of each individual, whether s/he owns a piece of land and other details. One has to furnish details of his/her sub-caste also in the form. It will be a comprehensive survey, he stated.

The previous survey conducted by the Kantharaju commission had 54 questions and was done manually. The next survey will have more questions and the enumerators will use a mobile phone-based app to collect data. He directed officials to study the Telangana model for the survey.

"We will have a high-powered expert committee to monitor the survey, while another expert committee will frame questionnaire for the survey," he added.

The survey will be conducted by 1.65 lakh enumerators. "Teachers and other government staff will be deputed," he said. P4

Traders call off strike over GST notices after meeting CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TRADE bodies and street vendor associations on Wednesday decided to withdraw their planned protests against GST notices issued to them after Chief Minister Siddaramaiah assured them of assistance.

In a significant relief, the chief minister announced that past GST dues would be waived off for traders who had not registered earlier but agree to register now.

He stressed on organising workshops in collaboration with trade bodies to clear misconceptions. He reiterated that essential goods, like milk, vegetables, fruits, and meat, are exempt from GST.

While notices may have been issued to traders dealing in these items, no taxes will be collected from them if they fall under the exemption list. However, those who are liable under the GST law must comply accordingly, he told them.

Reassuring the trading community, Siddaramaiah stated that the government's intention is not to harass, but to support legitimate business activity. CONTINUED ON P4

UP police raid Westarctica embassy, arrest 'ambassador'

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

IN what may look like a plot straight out of a Bollywood flick, the Special Task Force (STF) of Uttar Pradesh Police busted a fake embassy in Ghaziabad and arrested a man who ran the fake diplomatic mission posing as the ambassador of non-existent countries.

The arrest was made on Tuesday when the STF's Noida unit raided KB 35, Kavingar, where the accused had set up the 'Embassy of Westarctica'.

Westarctica is a self-proclaimed micronation in Antarctica founded by a former US Navy officer. It is not recognised by any government.

"The accused, Harshvardhan Jain, had been operating an illegal diplomatic mission from a rented house in Ghaziabad's Kavi Nagar," additional director general (law & order) Amitabh Yash said on Wednesday.

Police said Jain posed as the ambassador of the fictional nations of Westarctica, Saborga, Poulvia, and Lodonia. He moved around in luxury vehicles bearing fake diplomatic number plates and had morphed his photographs with prominent figures, including the Prime Minister and the President to impress and mislead people.

According to officials, Jain engaged in brokering deals by falsely promising job placements for companies and individuals in foreign countries.

"Investigations revealed Jain's past connections with Godman Chandraswami as well as international arms dealer Adnan Khashoggi," Yash said.

In 2011, Jain was found with illegal satellite phones and a case was registered against him at the Kavi Nagar police station, the ADG added.

During the raid, the STF seized over ₹44 lakh in cash and foreign currency of several countries. Besides, four vehicles with diplomatic number plates, 18 diplomatic number plates, 12 diplomatic passports of micronations, forged documents with the seal of the Ministry of External Affairs, two fake PAN cards, 34 seals of various countries and companies, two fake press cards, and documents of various companies were also recovered from the house of the accused.

An FIR has been lodged at Kavi Nagar police station, and further proceedings are underway, the STF said.

Divya creates history, storms into WC final

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

DIVYA Deshmukh was so visibly spent she had no energy. When asked to reflect, all she managed was a tired smile. For the previous five hours and change — the second tie of her women's World Cup chess semifinal against Tan Zhongyi — and a 100+ moves, she had gone through the whole gamut of emotions. She was losing. She was winning. She was winning completely. She had missed several chances. Then, at the very end, the former world champion, Zhongyi, had made one too many inaccuracies.

This time, the 19-year-old, still only an IM, capitalised. By virtue of this win, she has also qualified for the next edition of the women's Candidates in 2026 as well as earning a GM norm. She's one of the youngest players to qualify for the Candidates in decades. Up a few pawns in a rook endgame, she was threatening to queen her b pawn. The engines said she was within 20 moves of checkmate. That's when Zhongyi resigned handing the Indian her biggest victory till date. Even before the Chinese shook hands, Deshmukh, who used to travel to Chennai for classes as a child, was overwhelmed by what was about to happen. Like she had done a few times over the last week in Batumi, a tear or two escaped her eyes.

HC SETS ASIDE SINGLE JUDGE ORDER ON DIFFERENTIAL PROPERTY FEE

Single judge had said uniform rate can be collected as per plot size

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday stayed the order passed by the single judge, who set aside the amendment to the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike Act to permit levy of fees for plan sanction, issuance of completion and occupancy certificates and ground rent, based on the guidance value or market value of the properties.

However, the division bench clarified that the amount already collected on those heads has to be refunded, if the BBMP fails in its appeal filed before the court against the single judge's order.

A division bench of Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice CM Joshi passed the interim order after hearing the appeal filed by the BBMP questioning the single judge's order dated June 5. The single judge passed the order while disposing of the petitions filed by Sapthagiri Shelters and several individual property owners and land developers.

The single judge observed that a uniform rate can be collected depending upon the size of the plot and the extent of constructions and services related to sanction of plan for building construction rendered by the BBMP has nothing to do with the market value of the property or any logic in linking rates with the guidance value of the properties in different areas, notified by the government under the Karnataka Stamp Act for collection of stamp duty.

Declaring that the linking of the fee, leviable under Rule 37-A of the Karnataka Planning Authority Rules, 1965, to the market or guidance value for development of building or land or sanction for sub-division of plot or layout of Private Street under the Karnataka Town and Country Planning Authority Act, is illegal, the single judge had given liberty to the State Government and the BBMP to refix a standard fee after collecting empirical data.

Consider plea for Metro stn at Bettahalasuru Cross, BMRCL, state, Centre told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court disposed of a public interest litigation seeking direction for construction of a Metro station at Bettahalasuru Cross on the metro line between KR Puram to Kempegowda International Airport as originally planned.

The HC also issued directions to the State Government, the Union Government and the Bengaluru Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) to consider the representation of the petitioners.

A division bench of Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice CM Joshi passed the order after hearing the petition filed by BG Nanjundappa and four others in Yelahanka. The petitioners said they have submitted representations on three occasions from April to May to all the authorities concerned, including chief minister, not to drop the construction of Metro station at Bettahalasuru Cross as designed from the original plan of Metro train route 2B, but they were not considered.

The petitioners said they wanted to know the reasons for dropping the Metro station at Bettahalasuru Cross, and hence submitted an application under the Right to Information Act, to which a reply on May 19, 2025, was given stating that the construction of Metro station in the said place was dropped due to non-grant of funds by Embassy Group.

Stating that the said reason is flimsy and highly illegal and against the object of the Metro project and is not in public interest, the petitioners stated that Bettahalasuru village panchayat covers seven villages and Hunusamaranahalli Municipal Council covers five villages and such other adjacent villages, in all about 20 villages, will be benefitted by the Metro station at the Bettahalasuru Cross. Population of these villages is about 1.50 lakh. About 9,000 employees are working in the Kempegowda International Airport and are residing in these villages, presently travelling by BMTC buses.

The petitioners stated that the people residing in their villages and surrounding areas will have to face severe hardship if the Metro station is not constructed at Bettahalasuru Cross because the distance between Bagaluru Cross and Doddajala Metro Station is 8.7 km and there is no intermediate station between the two destinations.

KGF Babu coughs up ₹40L road tax for 2 Rolls-Royces

BENGALURU: Transport officials have collected nearly Rs 40 lakh in pending road tax from businessman and politician Yusuf Sharif aka KGF Babu, for plying two Maharashtra-registered luxury cars in Karnataka. Babu owns a Rolls-Royce Phantom and Rolls-Royce Ghost that he, officials said, bought from actors Amitabh Bachchan and Aamir Khan. A team led by Joint Commissioner of Transport Shobha went to Babu's house in Vasanth Nagar on Wednesday, and told him that he has to shell out nearly Rs 40 lakh, including penalty for late payment, for the two cars. "For any vehicle registered outside Karnataka, the owner must pay road tax here if they are found operating the vehicle for more than a year. Babu has been using the vehicles for nearly two years. RTO officials collected enough evidence against Babu," Shobha said. Officials said Babu initially claimed that he was not using the vehicles in Karnataka permanently, and they would be sent back to Maharashtra, but later paid the tax. "One car had Rs 19.73 lakh in pending tax, while the other had Rs 18.53 lakh. He paid the tax and penalty for late payment for both vehicles at once," Shobha said. ENS

Of the seven officials, HV Yarappa Reddy, Executive Engineer, CV Raman Nagar Division, BBMP, was recently trapped by the Lokayukta police while allegedly accepting Rs 10 lakh bribe to clear a contractor's bill. He was found with Rs 2.62 crore, which includes movable assets of Rs 1.16 crore and immovable assets of Rs 1.45 crore.

Bagli Maruti, Assistant Director, Department of Urban and Rural Planning, Bengaluru, was found with Rs 6.34 crore DA, including immovable assets of Rs 4.85 crore, comprising eight sites, five houses, 19 acres of farmland and movable assets of Rs 1.49 crore, with ornaments worth Rs 77.76 lakh and vehicles worth Rs 42 lakh.

Panel to BDA: Develop Varthur Lake before transferring to BBMP

The committee, headed by Shivajinagar MLA Rizwan Arshad (centre, holding chart), inspects lakes in Bengaluru East taluk on Wednesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Legislature's Standing Committee of Local Bodies and Panchayat Raj Institutions, headed by Chairman Rizwan Arshad, has rejected Bangalore Development Authority's proposal to transfer 480 acres of Varthur Lake to BBMP and asked the agency to develop the water body as per the National Green Tribunal's direction and then come up with the transfer proposal.

The committee on Wednesday inspected Yele Mallappa Shetty, Varthur and Bellandur lakes in Bengaluru East taluk, following a report from the Accountant-General's office about water bodies, their poor condition, encroachment and development plans.

The committee noted encroachment, sewage and dumping of garbage and debris at Yele Mallappa Shetty lake. Apprised of these issues by activists and residents fighting to save the water body, the committee asked the Revenue department to fence the lake.

"Of the 9.5-km lake boundary, only 5km has been fenced, while 4.5km is not fenced due to encroachment. The tahsildar was instructed to complete the survey in 10 days. The police department will be asked to give protection and ensure the lake is fenced," said Arshad.

After visiting all three water bodies, the committee arrived at the conclusion that there is a big coordination failure as water bodies fall under different agencies. "Yele Mallappa Shetty is under the Minor Irrigation department, while Varthur and Bellandur lakes are with BDA. BDA, BBMP, Minor Irrigation and Forest departments, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board, Lake Development Authority and Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board will be called for a meeting to coordinate to protect and develop water bodies," he said.

On BDA trying to dump Varthur Lake on BBMP even before rejuvenation, the Shivajinagar MLA said, "Nothing doing, BDA has to develop the lake first."

Residents of Varthur highlighted the issue of untreated sewage flow, and urged the committee to take officials to task and direct them to complete the Sewage Treatment Plant for clean water flow. They also pushed for stricter implementation of rain water harvesting, as this will reduce dependency on borewell water around Varthur and Bellandur lakes.

After inspecting Bellandur Lake, the committee instructed the Slum Development Board to ensure dwellers here are rehabilitated and the lake is cleared for development. The committee also visited Agara Lake in Bommanahalli and was impressed by its development.

KG HALLI - D J HALLI RIOTS

3 accused get 7-year RI after pleading guilty

Of the 199 accused, 187 have been arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MARKING the first conviction in the 2020 KG Halli-DJ Halli riots case, a special National Investigation Agency (NIA) court on Wednesday sentenced three accused, who had pleaded guilty during the framing of charges, to seven years rigorous imprisonment with penalty.

Accused no. 14 Syed Ikramuddin alias Syed Naveed (44), A-16 Syed Asif (46) and A-18 Mohammed Atif (26) were charged under multiple sections of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), the Karnataka Prevention of Destruction and Loss of Property Act (KPDLP) and the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA).

On August 11, 2020, a mob attacked the KG Halli and DJ Halli police stations as well as the residence of Congress MLA Akhanda Srinivas Murthy. The violence was triggered by a provocative social media post allegedly made by the MLA's nephew, Naveen. The riots involved incidents of stone throwing, petrol bomb attacks and assaults on police personnel. Four people died when the police opened fire to bring the situation under control.

Of the 199 accused in the case, 187 have been arrested and chargesheets filed against 138. The NIA took over the investigation on September 21, 2020, and filed its chargesheet on February 2, 2021. The NIA also established that the accused had links to the banned Popular Front of India (PFI).

"The police are charged with the duty of maintaining law and order as well as public order. When such custodians of law and order are attacked, public confidence in the efficiency of the police is likely to be shaken, thereby disturbing public order. We, the people, feel secure when we have a robust police force. The act of the accused in torching the KG Halli police station has shaken the confidence of the public and their sense of security," said special public prosecutor for NIA, Bengaluru, P Prasanna Kumar.

He added, "This judgment has not only restored public confidence in the police force, but has also vindicated the action of the Central government in declaring the Popular Front of India (PFI) as an unlawful association."

This was his second round of questioning in the case. He was interrogated for nearly three hours. He has been named as Accused Number 5 in the FIR for allegedly instigating the murder. He was earlier questioned on Saturday by IO Assistant Commissioner of Police (ACP) Prakash Rathod over his connection to the deceased and the other accused.

Speaking to reporters, he said, "The IO summoned me for questioning. They asked me several questions, and I answered them. They served another notice stating that I should appear whenever the police summon me. No specific dates were mentioned." Police are currently analysing airport CCTV footage. A lookout notice is likely to be issued against him. Shivakumar was hacked to death near his residence in Halasuru on July 15 over a property dispute.

Bomb scare: 6 gelatine sticks, detonators found near BMTC bus stand

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

PANIC gripped commuters at the Kalasipalya BMTC bus stand in Bengaluru's West Division on Tuesday afternoon after security personnel discovered explosive materials , later identified as gelatine sticks and detonators, in a carry bag near the washroom area.

According to police, the suspicious bag was found around 1.15 p.m. by security guards near the washroom. The bag was taken to the office, and police were immediately alerted. The Bomb Detection and Disposal Squad (BDDS) and dog squad rushed to the spot and, upon inspection, recovered six gelatine sticks and seven detonators from two separate bags. The materials were safely seized.

Speaking to reporters, DCP (West) S Girish said an unidentified person had left the bag containing the explosives on the washroom caretaker's table. "The materials were found raw and not assembled and appear to be typically used in quarry or stone blasting. Preliminary investigation suggests the person may not have had malicious intent and could have panicked before leaving the bag," he said.

Gelatine sticks and detonators were found in a carry bag

The caretaker was reportedly not present at the time. A senior police source told TNIE that five special teams have been formed to investigate the incident. CCTV footage from surrounding areas has been analysed, and several people have been questioned. A suspect has been identified, and efforts are on to trace and question him about the purpose of bringing the explosives.

Based on a complaint by Assistant Traffic Superintendent Mallappa R, the Kalasipalya police have registered a case under the Explosive Substances Act, the Explosives Act, and Sections 288 (negligent conduct to explosive substances) and 61 (criminal conspiracy) of the BNS.

GOA CM's MAHADAYI REMARK AN INSULT TO KANNADIGAS: SIDDU

Sawant reportedly told Goa Assembly that Union Minister Yadav informed him that Centre won't give its nod for the project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday said that his Goa counterpart Pramod Sawant's recent statement in the Goa Legislative Assembly that Union Minister for Environment, Forest, and Climate Change Bhupender Yadav informed him that the Union Government will not give its nod for the Mahadayi river diversion project (also known as Kalasa-Banduri project) is an insult to the people of Karnataka. Siddaramaiah said that they will fight legally, politically, and morally until Karnataka gets its rightful share.

"Why hasn't the Union Government officially communicated any concerns? Is this how federalism works under BJP? Backdoor sabotage, silence, and betrayal? What crime have Kannadigas committed? Are we being punished for not surrendering to the BJP?" the CM said. Mahadayi is not for luxury or waste, it is for the drinking water needs of North Karnataka, he said. "For decades, our people have waited for justice. But BJP's and JDS' Karnataka leaders have no spine to speak up. Their silence today will be remembered tomorrow. Despite the 2018 tribunal verdict allocating 13.42 tmcft of water to us, the Centre, hand in glove with Goa's BJP govt, is blocking the implementation of our rightful project," the CM added.

Meanwhile, Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil expressed shock over Sawant's statement. Speaking to the media in Vidhana Soudha, Patil said that Karnataka will discuss the Mahadayi issue during the monsoon session of the legislature beginning August 11. Sawant had reportedly said that his government will move the Supreme Court, alleging that Karnataka has taken up activities on its territory that amount to sub judice.

"We are shocked by the official statement made by Goa CM Pramod Sawant in the Goa Assembly that Union Minister Bhupendar Yadav has informed him that the Centre will not approve the Mahadayi project for any reason. The Mahadayi water dispute was settled by a tribunal under the Inter-State Water Disputes Act, which gave a final verdict that was published in the Central Government Gazette. The verdict of the tribunal has come into force," Patil added.

He recalled that Karnataka had submitted its request for diverting 7.56 tmcft of water to the Malaprabha valley for the Kalasa-Banduri project, of which 3.9 tmcft has been allocated. "The tribunal has agreed to carry out the intra-valley diversion by Karnataka. Karnataka had filed an application for clearance from the National Tiger Conservation Authority for the implementation of the project. Goa had objected that 10.6 hectares of forest land fell within the Kali and Sahyadri tiger reserves. But authority on January 23, 2024, had recommended the use of the land," he added.

Patil also took a dig at the National Wildlife Board, chaired by Bhupender Yadav, for deferring the decision on giving its clearance in its 77th, 79th, and 80th meetings despite the subject being part of the agenda.

"The Supreme Court has not issued any order to stay Karnataka's Mahadayi project. The Central Water Commission on December 29, 2022, approved the revised detailed project report of Kalasa and Banduri project. The Supreme Court on April 19, 2023, disposed of Goa's interim application on the original suit and dismissed its prayer seeking a stay order against the project," the minister explained.

Patil further alleged that the Centre has been unnecessarily obstructing the implementation of Karnataka's fair and legal and constitutionally protected project, which is an injustice to the federal system. Patil urged the Union Government to grant the necessary approval for the project, keeping in mind the interests of the people of Karnataka immediately.

Meanwhile, slamming the political parties for their failure to implement the Mahadayi project, farmer leader Raghavendra Naik from Belagavi said that neither the State Government nor the Centre were serious on the implementing it.

"The project was actually implemented when the BJP government was in power in the state. Several works under the project were taken up spending huge funds by the State Government before the project came to a halt at Kankumbi a decade ago. However, there is a need for the political leaders to unite and get this project implemented in the larger interests of people of North Karnataka," he said.

GST TUG-OF-WAR

Strike called off after word from Commercial Taxes dept: Traders

A flower vendor sports a black band to protest against GST notices, in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SMALL-SCALE traders and vendors, who were protesting against the Goods and Service Tax (GST) notices linked to the Unified Payments Interface (UPI) transactions exceeding Rs 40 lakh per year, called off their protest on Wednesday.

All bakeries, condiments and other small businesses will operate as usual from Thursday.

Speaking to TNIE, President of Karnataka Karmika Parishat Ravi Shetty Byndoor said, "We were assured by the Commercial Taxes Department that the GST notices would be withdrawn and that those who received the notices need not reply to it. We were also assured that the tax arrears as claimed in the GST notices will not be pursued. These were our major demands and they have been addressed."

Thousands of small-scale traders and vendors were on a protest by wearing black bands and ribbons over their foreheads and arms and were gearing up for a one-day bandh on Friday. As part of the protests, bakery and condiment shop owners chose not to sell milk and allied products like curd, buttermilk, tea, which are their major source of revenue, on Wednesday.

Byndoor said that they boycotted the meeting called by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah related to the GST issue and later withdrew the protest after the promise of fulfilling their demands by the Commercial Taxes Department. Byndoor said that going forward, the department will hold GST tax awareness workshops and added that they have requested the traders with turnover exceeding Rs 40 lakh annually to get GST registration and begin compliance.

FKCCI lauds CM's outreach to traders on GST notices

The Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI) lauded Chief Minister, stating that he addressed the concerns of small traders regarding the recent GST notices issued. FKCCI President M G Balakrishna said, "The government's assurance that goods traders will not be taxed and that arrears will be waived upon registration has restored traders' confidence."

He added, "The CM has emphasised that the government is for the poor and the working class. Empowering small traders increases purchasing power and drives grassroots economic growth. FKCCI will now intensify its support by organising handholding programs and digital literacy workshops to facilitate GST registration and compliance."

'Committed to transparent governance'

"WE are committed to transparent governance and safeguarding the interests of small businesses," the CM said.

Siddaramaiah chaired a high-level meeting, followed by a media briefing outlining key measures and clarifications from the state government.

The associations, along with FKCCI, presented their grievances to the chief minister. Many highlighted their confusion regarding GST notices, citing that loan amounts and personal transactions had mistakenly been included in taxable turnover.

Siddaramaiah clarified that while issuing GST notices is not inherently wrong, affected traders should be provided an opportunity to pay pending taxes without harassment. He instructed officials to ensure that traders can deal directly with the tax department, eliminating the need for intermediaries. He directed the Commercial Taxes Department to set up a dedicated helpline to assist small traders and initiate awareness campaigns to educate them on GST compliance.

Officials clarified that approximately 18,000 notices were issued over the last 2-3 years to around 9,000 traders who recorded UPI transactions exceeding Rs 40 lakh.

The traders expressed satisfaction with the government's responsiveness and pledged cooperation moving forward. Siddaramaiah pointed out that GST rates are determined by the national GST Council, chaired by the Union finance minister. Of the total GST revenue, 50% is allocated to the state.

Notices issued to raise money, says Vijayendra

BENGALURU: Karnataka BJP president BY Vijayendra alleged that with the Congress government's treasury running dry, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has unleashed the Commercial Taxes Department to issue notices to small traders in a bid to raise money. "The notices served on street vendors and small businesses are completely illegal. The government must immediately stop issuing them and withdraw those already sent," he told reporters. He said that the BJP fully supports small traders, and added that the notices were sent overnight without any review leaving traders terrified. On the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) case, Vijayendra said that though the Supreme Court dismissed the ED's petition, that does not amount to a clean chit for the CM. "This is a fit case for a CBI inquiry," he said. ENS

Surjewala: Welfare schemes have driven economic empowerment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala has said that successful implementation of welfare programmes has driven economic empowerment in Karnataka. The increase in per capita income (PCI) and the positive impact of the schemes are clear indicators that Karnataka is not only becoming economically stronger but is also achieving social justice and equity, he said.

The Congress leader said that the schemes have significantly improved the standard of living and contributed to Karnataka's holistic development. He said that the guarantees were implemented for all the poor people of Karnataka and not introduced for vote-bank politics. "As a result, many have been able to rebuild their lives. The rise in per capita income confirms this. These aren't just our claims - they are backed by the Central Government's own data. BJP leaders must understand the reality. These schemes clearly demonstrate how the lives of people in rural areas can be transformed," Surjewala added. He said that Karnataka's remarkable economic growth is also powered by the Information Technology and Biotechnology sectors.

Committed to provide power supply without disruptions, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah said here on Wednesday that the state government is committed to provide uninterrupted power supply to people across the state. At the 56th Foundation Day celebrations of Karnataka Power Corporation Ltd (KPCL), he said Karnataka is a leader in power generation in the country.

He said, "There was no electricity in my village during my early school days. It arrived only when I was in the seventh or eighth standard. Today, every village is electrified and KPCL has played a key role in this transformation." He said the vacancies in KPCL will be filled after discussions with Energy Minister KJ George and KPCL Managing Director Gaurav Gupta.

George said that though the state generates sufficient power, there is a need to store it. "We are initiating pumped storage projects with capacities of 2,000 MW at Sharavati and 1,500 MW at Varahi. These projects will help store electricity and meet peak-time demand. The Sharavati project has already secured approvals from both the State and Central Wildlife Boards," he said. Gaurav Gupta, who is also additional chief secretary (Energy), said KPCL created an all-time record by generating 37,009 million units of electricity in 2024-25. KPCL meets 40% of the state's power demand, while the target is to increase it to 50%, he added.

SC declines to hear plea against gag order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday refused to entertain a petition challenging a sweeping gag order that restrained media houses from reporting on matters related to the brother of Dharamadhikari D Veerendra Heggade of Dharamsthala.

The gag order pertained to the reports on alleged murder of women in Dharmasthala. The plea, filed against an ex parte interim order of a local court, questioned the legality of the directive which directed as many as 390 media houses to remove nearly 9,000 links and stories related to the Dharamsthala burial case.

DHARMASTHALA CASE

A three-judge bench of the top court, headed by the Chief Justice of India B R Gavai and Justices K Vinod Chandran and Joymalya Bagchi asked the counsel who sought an urgent hearing, to approach the high court first against the Bengaluru court's order.

The Bengaluru court issued the order on July 18 in a civil suit filed by Harshendra Kumar D, head of the Dharmasthala temple administration, demanding the removal of thousands of media links.

Minister Lad proposes cess on fuel for welfare of unorganised sector

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayapura

KARNATAKA Minister for Labour Santosh Lad has said that his department has proposed to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to impose a cess of 50 paise to Re 1 on petrol and diesel in the state for the welfare of those working in the unorganised sector. Speaking after inaugurating a programme to distribute smart cards and compensation cheques to labourers on Wednesday, Lad said that since his department has no separate funds for this purpose, he has made such an appeal to the CM.

"We have proposed it to the government. If implemented, it will help the department to frame more welfare schemes and give higher compensation to the workers of the unorganised sector during emergencies or tragedies," Lad said, adding that he hoped the government would agree to his proposal.

Claiming that Karnataka has become the first state in the country to launch several unique welfare schemes for those working in the unorganised sector, the minister said that nearly 75 lakh people can avail the benefits.

Lad said his department has launched the 'Asha Deepa' scheme, where incentives are given to small industries if they hire unemployed youths belonging to the SC/ST category. Under the scheme, industries should hire youth either as trainees or full-time employees. Against that, the government will give Rs 7,000 each month as an incentive to industry for two years. "This is the first of its kind scheme launched in the country. So far, 6,142 youth have availed its benefit in the state. The scheme has also helped in preventing migration of the people, as many can get jobs locally," he added.

Meanwhile, Lad also accused the BJP of spreading canards about the guarantees.

We are focusing only on the social and educational condition of the people. The CM's meeting on Wednesday was with BBMP, revenue and education department officials," he added.

Asked whether 15 days are too less to cover all the seven crore people, he said the use of technology will help. When pointed out that the survey is being conducted during the Dasara vacation when many people would be out on vacation, he said all such issues will be discussed and resolved and details will be explained in the coming days. KIDNEY RACKET?

Licence of 2 TN hospitals suspended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Tiruchy

THE Tamil The Tamil Nadu government has temporarily suspended the kidney transplant permission granted to two private hospitals, the Dhanalakshmi Srinivasan Medical College Hospital in Perambalur and Cethar Hospital in Tiruchy, based on a preliminary inquiry into the suspected illegal kidney transplant activities in Namakkal district.

The state health department said the action was based on the repowrt of a high-level committee.

The release stated that Dr S Vineeth, Director of Tamil Nadu Health Systems Project, was appointed to head the investigation as per an order issued on July 18. Based on the interim report filed by Dr Vineeth, the Directorate of Medical and Rural Health Services (DMS) invoked Section 16 (2) of the Transplantation of Human Organs Act, 1994, and ordered the suspension of kidney transplant approvals given to both the hospitals temporarily, considering public interest. The government press release did not specify how the hospitals were involved in the alleged illegal transplant or whether they had monetarily benefited from the procedure.

SC: Sustainable growth vital, but forests can't be destroyed overnight

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday said that sustainable development is important, but that does not mean that forests can be destroyed overnight with bulldozers. "I am myself an advocate for sustainable development, but that doesn't mean that overnight you should employ 30 bulldozers and clear all the jungle," said a three-judge bench of the top court, headed by the Chief Justice of India (CJI) B R Gavai.

The CJI also took suo moto cognizance of the felling of trees at forest area in Kancha Gachibowli in Telangana. "Until further orders, there shall be no activity of any sort at the site, except protection of trees already existing," said the top court.

The case pertains to the alleged cutting of approximately 400 acres of green cover in the Kancha Gachibowli forest area by the Telangana State Industrial Infrastructure Corporation (TSIIC) for the development of information technology infrastructure. Stressing that sustainable development is important, the top court cautioned against the use of bulldozers to clear forests in order to achieve it.

The apex court in its order directed the Wildlife warden of Telangana to take immediate steps to protect the wildlife affected on account of deforestation in 100 acres of land in Kancha Gachibowli.

The other two judges in the bench, besides the CJI, were Justices K Vinod Chandran and Joymalya Bagchi. The court had earlier, in one of its hearings expressed concern over the environmental damage due to the felling of a large number of trees on a land parcel next to the University of Hyderabad.

Questioning the Telangana government over the "tearing hurry" to fell the trees in the Kancha Gachibowli, the bench had asked the Telangana senior advocate Abhishek Manu Singhvi, "You have to come up with a plan as to how you will restore those 100 acres (of land). Better course would be to come up with a plan to restore the forest."

Crucial test: Samudrayaan inches closer to mission

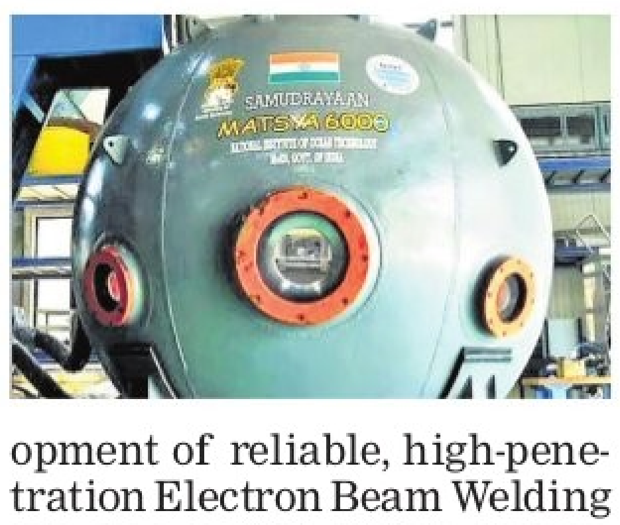
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S ambitious first-manned ocean mission Samudrayaan is inching closer to reality, with ISRO on Wednesday announcing that the testing of the personnel sphere of the Matsya-6000 submersible, along with the development of materials for realisation, were successfully carried out at the Vikram Sarabhai Space Centre (VSSC).

"The first welding on the actual hardware and detailed evaluation has been completed. High-penetration welding of this scale, ie. of 80-mm weld thickness, over 7,100-mm length with 32 minutes of weld duration, was carried out for the first time in the country," ISRO said.

Matsya-6000 is a sphere comprising a diameter of 2,260-mm, made of Titanium, and is expected to withstand external pressure of up to 600bar under low temp situations of -3 degrees C. It is capable of carrying a three-member crew, up to 6 km deep into the ocean.

The National Institute of Ocean Technology (NIOT) signed an MoU with VSSC for the development of the special human-occupied spherical vessel, as a part of Samudrayaan, under the Deep Ocean Mission.



The scientists also said a major challenge in realising the spherical vessel was the development of reliable, high-penetration Electron Beam Welding process and the high-energy (7.5MeV) X-ray facility for the Non-Destructive Evaluation. This is essential for the certification of the human-rated product, the ISRO team said.

The Liquid Propulsion Systems Centre (LPSC) in Bengaluru developed the process and infrastructure for the welding process and NDE. ISRO said the LPSC has the facility and expertise to carry out welding up to 20-mm thickness. To meet the high-power demand, the EBW machine was augmented from 15kW to 40kW rating, along with additional facilities for chemical cleaning and handling equipment for the higher size and mass. For the NDE, the existing X-ray facility in kV range was augmented to 7.5MeV range. Multiple NDE techniques were employed, which complement each other in ascertaining weld quality, including Time of Flight Diffraction and Dual Linear Array Phased Array Ultrasonic Testing, the team concluded.

NO SUCH THING AS MUSLIM QUOTA, BACKWARDNESS ONLY CRITERION: REVANTH

Hyderabad: Pointing out that the Telangana provides reservations based on social and educational backwardness, not religion, the Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy rejected the BJP's demand to remove Muslims from the Backward Classes (BCs) reservation category. He pointed out that several BJP-ruled states such as Gujarat, UP, and Maharashtra have been extending BC reservations to Muslim communities for decades. "First remove Muslim reservations in those states, then make suggestions to Telangana," he said. Revanth referred to a recent High Court order directing the state to conduct local body elections within 90 days and determine reservation criteria within 30 days. He reiterated his government's commitment to complete the local elections by September 30, contingent on the Union Government approving two bills passed by the state legislature to enhance BC reservations to 42%. . Referring to an interview in which Home Minister Amit Shah acknowledged that Gujarat had long implemented such reservations, he questioned: "Will you suspend Amit Shah from the BJP for saying that?" He said the Constitution does not differ for political parties. Responding to questions about the resignation of Vice-President Jagdeep Dhankhar, Revanth said the VP post should now go to Telangana. He urged the NDA to appoint ex-Haryana and HP guv Bandaru Dattatreya as the next VP of India. ENS

INVESTIGATION also revealed that Flipkart-owned Myntra, which was actually carrying out multi-brand retail trading in the guise of wholesale cash & carry "has not satisfied" the conditions laid down as they have made cent per cent sales to Vector, in contravention of FEMA and Consolidated FDI Policy April 1, 2010, and October 1, 2010, amendments to the tune of Rs 1,654.35 crore. The policies permit only 25per cent sale to companies belonging to the same group or group companies.

'One Sigma got FDI from US'

In the One Sigma case, the ED stated that the inquiry was initiated on the basis of "credible information that SIMPL has received a substantial amount of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) from the United States of America (USA), allegedly in violation of the extant FDI Policy".

The ED investigation under FEMA revealed that One Sigma Technologies "runs its business through a mobile application named SIMPL, which provides buy now pay later services... Further, it was learnt that 'One Sigma' received Rs 648,87,76,480 in FDI and issued convertible notes to the tune of Rs 264,88,11,582 under 100 per cent automatic route by declaring its business activity as benefits of Information Technology and other computer service activities".

The business model and revenue generation model of 'One Sigma' were examined, which revealed the company "is into business activities which fall under financial activities. However, as per AP (DIR Series) Circular No 8 dated October 20, 2016, issued by the RBI, FDI in financial activities not regulated by any authority is to be brought under 100 per cent approval route".

In activities where government approval is necessary for receiving FDI, any startup company can issue convertible notes only with the approval of the Government of India. "However, One Sigma Technologies Pvt Ltd has issued convertible notes without obtaining approval from the GoI. The company received FDI under automatic route and issued convertible notes under automatic route without obtaining prior approval from the GoI, and has thereby contravened

POLITICAL NEUTRALITY MUST GUIDE DHANKHAR'S SUCCESSOR IN VP'S POST

THE abrupt resignation of Vice President Jagdeep Dhankhar midway into his tenure citing health concerns shows the BJP's struggles in digesting some lateral entrants into the party who are subsequently assigned high constitutional positions. From Satypal Malik to Yashwant Sinha, quite a few imports ended up as outliers as the system failed to assimilate them. On the flip side, those like Himanta Biswa Sarma became indispensable as they contributed handsomely for the party's growth even beyond their geography. As for Dhankhar, he established his worth for the BJP as West Bengal governor, hitting the headlines frequently as a one-man army with a bazooka against Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, and was rewarded with the VP's post. Nemesis sprang out of nowhere three years later, shoving him out without the dignity of even a farewell speech.

Dhankhar accepting an opposition notice for impeaching Justice Yashwant Varma over alleged corruption, at a time when the government was trying to make it a bipartisan exercise, appeared to be the last straw on the camel's back, as he had crossed the NDA red line far too often. The VP's exit drew sympathetic noises from the opposition, who ironically were gunning for his scalp just a few weeks ago. Since Dhankhar is the only VP to have departed under such circumstances—the others had left to become president—it threw up questions on the constitutional grey area on electing his successor. While the Constitution does not specify a timeline, it mandates that the vacancy be filled as soon as possible, and gives the person a full term of five years. The resignation did not create a constitutional void as the institution of the Rajya Sabha deputy chair is in place; it's a moment to remember that the position of the Lok Sabha deputy speaker is still vacant.

Far too often, Dhankhar had taken confrontational positions with the judiciary on questions like 'one nation, one election', the power of judicial review, parliament's supremacy, and timelines for legislative assent—at times making the executive squirm. Both gubernatorial and vice presidential posts are titular positions that require politically neutral individuals in office. Unfortunately, they are anything but. The vice president has a larger role as the Rajya Sabha chairperson, discharging an important democratic and constitutional function. Here's hoping Dhankhar's replacement will uphold the dignity of his high constitutional office.

HARMFUL CHEMICALS CLIP WINGS, IMPERIL HUMANS

THE National Centre for Biological Sciences has found a drastic 25 percent decline in India's bird population over the last two and a half decades. Such a trend would affect soil nutrient cycles, pollination, seed dispersal and ecosystem balance, besides triggering a cascading effect on public health. The study highlights the poor understanding in India about the consequences of pesticides, which are implicated in the decline of open-habitat birds and insectivores, depriving the birds of their prey and leading to their population decline. Pesticides are widely understood to be the main reason for the decline of insects, which in turn has affected several bird species worldwide.

Among the main villains is a class of pesticides called neonicotinoids, which are chemically similar to nicotine and are rampantly used in agriculture and veterinary medicine in India. Neonicotinoids have raised global concerns due to their harm to beneficial insects like bees and other pollinators. This led to the ban of three neonicotinoids by the European Commission in 2018. But their continued unregulated use in India has led to prey deprivation for grassland and raptor bird species like the tawny eagle, greater spotted eagle, saras crane, great Indian bustard, Indian roller, Bengal florican and common pochard. Also blamed are changing agriculture patterns, water pollution, silt accumulation, unscientific desilting and poor lake rejuvenation that has affected wetland and aquatic birds like the northern pintail duck, tufted duck, greater flamingo, Eurasian spoonbill, black-capped kingfisher, Baillon's crake, spot-billed pelican, lesser adjutant, painted stork and pied kingfisher.

It needs to be realised that a robust avian population across species is beneficial to ecosystems and human wellbeing. Loss in bird populations can potentially lead to reduced agricultural yields and perpetuate the reliance on harmful pesticides, only further aggravating the situation. This can have an adverse impact on public health, besides signalling a wider biodiversity loss that can also negatively impact the economy in the long run.

Agricultural scientists, farmers and the central and state governments need to wake up to these adversities arising from shrinking bird populations. They should spread awareness about the scientific use of pesticides and solar-panelled water pumps through strict regulatory measures. We cannot afford our skies to be even more forlorn.

QUICK TAKE

HOW NOT TO BE COLDPLAYED

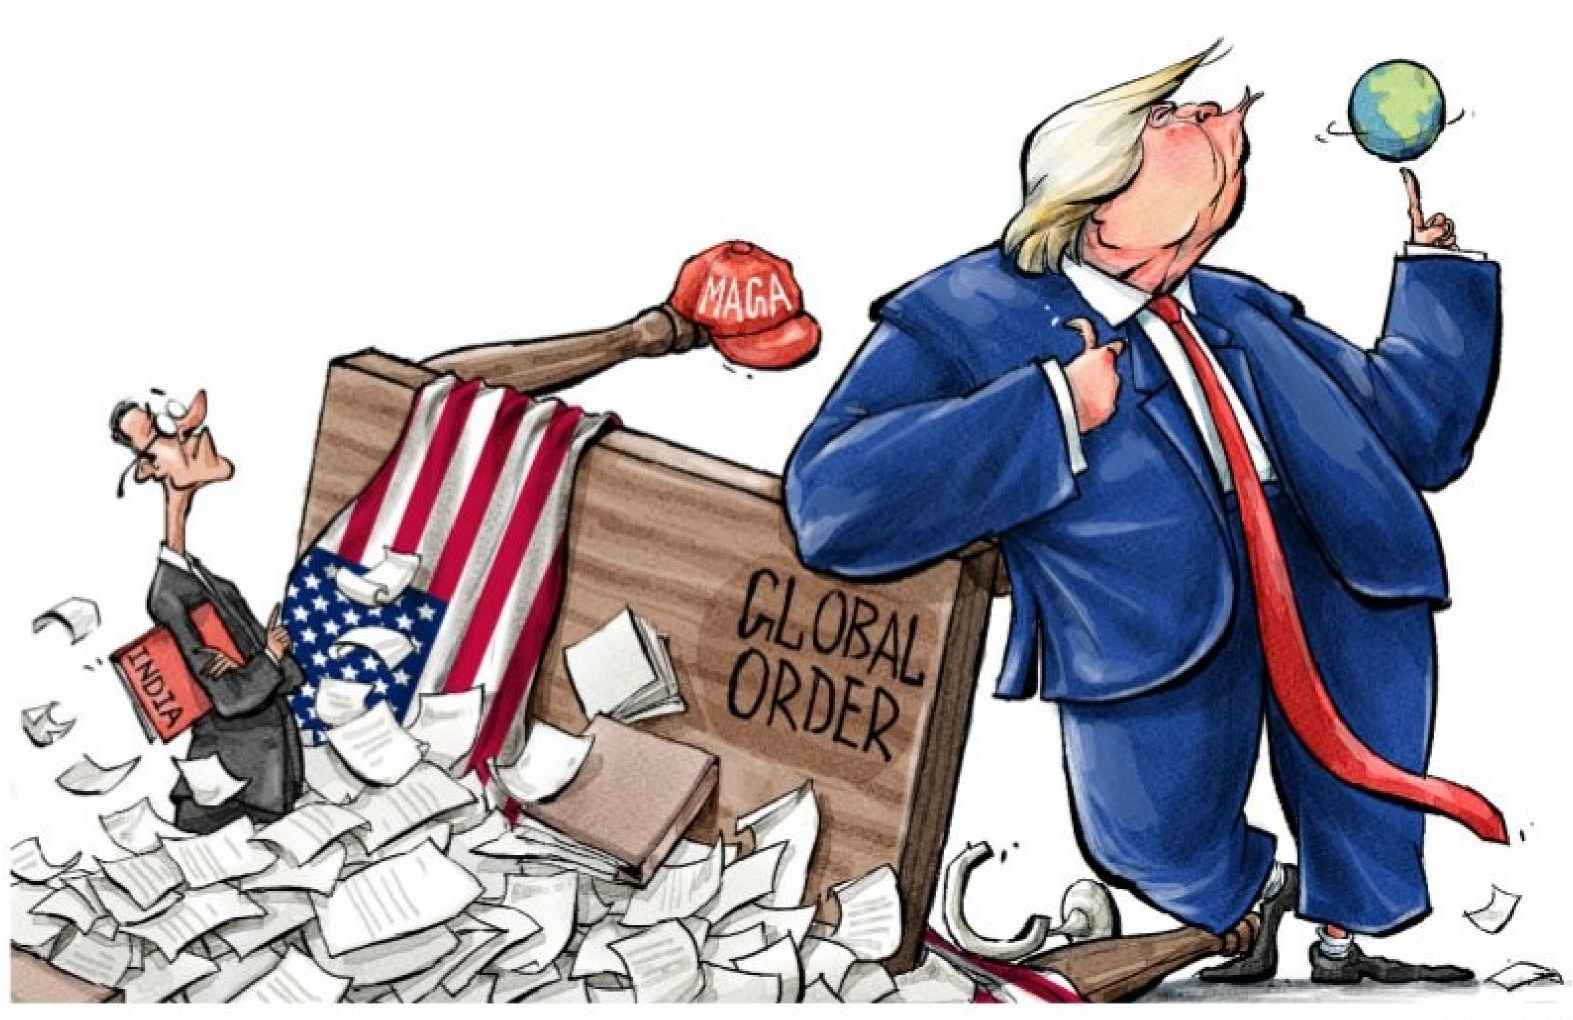
COLDPLAY is no longer only a British rock band's name; it's now a social media slang for being outed at a public event, too. The word's somewhat apt verbification followed an awkward moment that played out at a Coldplay concert in Foxborough, US last week—a tech CEO in attendance was pictured on the stadium's giant screen getting cosy with his HR chief. Before you shout "invasion of privacy", do consider that 'kiss cams' are an American phenomenon that started in the 1980s to fill gaps in sport telecasts. It's wiser to accept that cameras are everywhere nowadays and social media trend-hunting is a brutal sport. That, however, should not give broadcasters the licence to zoom in on affaires privées in the stands.

Despite his tough talk, the actions taken by Trump show a method in his idiosyncrasies. India can learn from China and Russia in facing his desultory diplomacy with firmness

ANOTHER YALTA MOMENT FOR A NEW ORDER

M K BHADRAKUMAR

Former diplomat



SOURAV ROY

BASED on interactions with American national security elites at the annual Aspen Security Forum in Colorado, Politico compiled a report six months into Donald Trump's second presidency last weekend. The digital newspaper reported the Aspen delegates "accepted that this president has irrevocably upended the global order… former and current US and foreign officials, business leaders and analysts acknowledged publicly and privately that the Trump administration has dealt a lasting blow to much of the post-World War II consensus around free trade and long-term cooperation".

Indeed, isn't this how history rolls on—when a statesman appears out of nowhere with a sledgehammer and a bold agenda to break the crust? The demolition is painful to watch and the outcome difficult to predict, which is reflected in the industrial-scale demonisation of Trump by the self-styled 'liberal globalists'. Trump has smashed not only "the norms and conventions that governed US trade relations, use of military force and engagement with stalwart partners and alliances", as Politico characterised it, but also rolled back the agencies entrusted with foreign policy tasks including USAID, CIA, Pentagon and the state department.

Indian foreign policy elites seek solace that Trump's policies will not have a long shelf life and could be easily reversed once he leaves office. However, former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice admitted at the closing panel of the Colorado summit, in her capacity as co-chair of the Aspen Strategy Group, "We have to recognise that we're probably not going back to exactly that system".

We find Trump's pugilistic approach on India-Pakistan tensions to be irksome, as our attempts to influence it on the edges are being rebuffed. But US mediation between India and Pakistan has been a fact of life going all the way back to the Indus Waters Treaty. The difference today is that Trump is claiming credit for it, which is profoundly embarrassing for the Indian leadership. But then, our politicians are second to none in grandstanding either.

After Trump's election victory in November, Delhi went overboard to propagate it was cruising the transition from the Biden era to Trump with delectable ease. The Prime Minister's hastily arranged visit to Washington in February cemented such a perception. Today, if a contrarian assessment has arisen that the government's foreign policy has collapsed, we are at fault for raising expectations sky-high. Apparently, we estimated a certain predictability about Trump's policies. But his tariff war came as a rude shock.

However, Trump's imposition of tariffs amounting to an extra 145 percent on Chinese imports was swiftly abandoned and replaced with a more favourable deal pending a resolution of the fentanyl issue. In recent days, relations have warmed further. China agreed to lift restrictions on the export of rare earths and, in return, the US eased restrictions on the sale of advanced computer chips to China. Jensen Huang, CEO of Nvidia, one of the world's most valuable companies whose chips are used for advanced artificial intelligence tasks, was on a celebratory tour of China last week. Huang was ecstatic about the business possibilities with the "massive, dynamic, and highly innovative" Chinese market. He declared, "It is indeed crucial for American companies to establish roots in the Chinese market."

Trump's China strategy should be understood properly to sense that there is a method in his idiosyncrasies. Huang responded when asked in another interview whether his enthusiasm for the Chinese market would clash with the views of Trump and his Republican supporters. He said he had spoken before the visit with Trump, who had wished him well. "There is always room for two people in any house," he said.

The US-India relationship remains on strong enough foundations to withstand the current turbulence. India's strategic autonomy and multi-alignment doctrine are robust enough, too. Besides, it is not as if Trump's pragmatism is not applicable to India or that he harbours some animus against India. Fortuitously, an opportunity is at hand for the government to reset its compass on two issues of far-reaching significance, which would have a sobering effect on the Trump administration. One, Trump's threat to impose secondary tariffs of 100 percent on countries that buy oil from Russia; and two, Washington's advocacy that Delhi should unceremoniously dump Russia as a defence partner.

In all probability, Trump is not going to impose sanctions on Russia—just as his Ukraine U-turn is less dramatic than it seems. Keeping Russian oil out of the world market may not even be in Trump's interests. He is well aware that Putin would not be deterred by sanctions and there is no question of the Russian president suspending the special military operation in Ukraine without realising its objectives.

As for India's defence ties with Russia, the upcoming government decision will be a defining moment as regards a production partner for the indigenous advanced medium combat aircraft and an interim fifth-generation platform. For both, Russia's fifth-generation fighter Su-57 appears to be the most viable candidate—not only in costs, but also in terms of Moscow's offer to set up Indian production and share technology.

India can learn from Russia and China's playbook that transparency and firmness pay with Trump. Xi Jinping showed he won't be a pushover if there was a tariff war; equally, Putin is immovable when it comes to a ceasefire in Ukraine without realising the objectives of the military operation. That said, desultory diplomacy is the hallmark of Trump's strategy and India cannot be impervious to it.

Chinese social media chatter is speculating about a trilateral summit between Xi, Trump and Putin during the 80th anniversary of the victory against Japanese aggression and fascism. The Times newspaper, too, reported it last week. Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov sounded sceptical initially, but conceded on Monday that such a meeting can't be ruled out. Russian officials and state media have for years pivoted on the idea of a concert of big powers—à la Yalta conference in 1945—to uphold the balance of power. As for Trump, this would be a colourful new way to convey his political desiderata, a critical element of his diplomatic style.

THE POLICE LINE WE NEED TO CROSS

AMAL CHANDRA

Policy analyst and National Coordinator, Students for Liberty (East India)

THE brutal custodial death of 27-year-old temple security guard Ajith Kumar in Tamil Nadu last month forced the country to confront an uncomfortable truth: custodial torture is not an aberration, but a systemic feature of policing in India.

According to the autopsy report, there were more than 40 injuries on his body, pointing to sustained and deliberate assault. In a moment of judicial candour, the Madurai bench of the Madras High Court described it as "police-organised crime" and concluded that "a state has killed its own citizen". That tone is necessary and speaks to the scale of the rot.

The state acted swiftly in the immediate aftermath. Five policemen were arrested, six others were suspended and a judicial inquiry was ordered under strict timelines. The Tamil Nadu government offered compensation: ₹5 lakh and a government job for Ajith's brother, and a parcel of land. The case was also handed over to the CBI.

Yet, for all the official gestures, Tamil Nadu's record on custodial violence remains deeply troubling. Between 2016 and 2021, there were 478 custodial deaths, with perpetrators not convicted in the vast majority of cases. In 2022 alone, at least 12 more cases surfaced. The accused cops behind the infamous 2023 Ambasamudram custodial torture case, in which detainees were reportedly assaulted with iron rods and had their teeth smashed, are on active duty.

The national figures paint an even grimmer picture. According to the National Human Rights Commission, there were over 2,300 custodial deaths—2,152 in judicial custody and 155 in police custody—in India in 2021-22. Over the last six years, Uttar Pradesh alone has reported 2,630 custodial deaths, the highest in the country, while Tamil Nadu recorded the highest cases among the southern states. Overall, there were 11,650 deaths in custody in India between 2016 and 2022, a staggering figure for a democracy.

What is most disturbing is the near-total absence of justice. A 2023 analysis of NHRC and government data reveals between 2017 and 2022, only 345 magisterial inquiries were ordered nationwide into custodial deaths, resulting in just 123 arrests. Charges were filed only in 79 cases. There were no convictions. In Tamil Nadu alone, 39 such inquiries were conducted during this period, none leading to conviction. The legal machinery, it seems, is built to shield the perpetrators, not to deliver justice.

The situation is no better in other states. In Chhattisgarh, the high court recently awarded ₹2 lakh as compensation to the mother of a young man beaten to death in custody—an act of redress, not deterrence. In Jharkhand, widespread protests erupted after 35-year-old Meraj Ansari was allegedly tortured to death by a cybercrime unit. These incidents, like countless others, are quickly absorbed into the collective amnesia of public discourse, until the next body surfaces.

AFP

Custodial deaths in India are often linked to caste, class and community. We need a legal system to deliver justice to those on the margins, not shield the perpetrators. Every custodial death should trigger an FIR and an independent probe, not an internal review

Custodial violence in India is not merely a law and order issue: it is fundamentally linked to caste, class and community. NHRC data reveals that 71 percent of custodial deaths between 1996 and 2018 involved detainees from poor or vulnerable backgrounds. The over-policing of Dalit and Adivasi communities is no accident—it is rooted in the deeply hierarchical nature of Indian law enforcement.

Ajith Kumar's death is no aberration—it followed the institutional script. Taken on mere suspicion, tortured in custody and cremated with alarming haste, his erasure illustrates the brutal efficiency with which the state can extinguish the lives of those on the margins. It marks the intersection of economic precarity, social discrimination, and unchecked impunity.

This custodial death crisis demands more than reform—it requires a rupture. Change must begin at arrest: enforceable detention protocols, constant judicial oversight, recorded interrogations and medical checks must be mandatory. Every custodial death should trigger an FIR and an independent probe, not an internal review. Fast-track courts must replace bureaucratic delay. A public, disaggregated database and regular audits by SC/ST and civil society groups are essential to transparency and oversight.

Justice must also be reparative. Victims' families deserve immediate compensation and long-term support. Police training must be rooted in constitutional rights and anti-caste ethics. Institutions like the NHRC need prosecutorial powers and procedural sabotage must attract criminal liability.

A democracy cannot sustain itself when fear supplants trust in its guardians. The right to life is not earned through compliance, nor does dignity expire at the threshold of custody. Ajith Kumar's death exposes a state too willing to obscure the truth with silence. Without systemic reform, independent oversight, and a fundamental reimagining of policing, such tragedies will remain fleeting ruptures, memorialised not as reckonings, but as forgotten footnotes.

India is at a moral and constitutional inflection point. It can do nothing and aid the normalisation of custodial violence, or it can reaffirm, with clarity and conviction, that the deprivation of liberty must never entail the forfeiture of life. The true measure of a republic lies not in its indulgence of the powerful, but in its unwavering commitment to the dignity and protection of the powerless. Justice, if it is to retain meaning beyond rhetoric, must extend to Ajith Kumar and to the countless others whose lives are extinguished without record, recourse or remembrance.

Business Advisory Committee of Upper House decides to have 16-hour discussion over two days on Pahalgam terror attack

PM may speak on Sindoor in RS after return

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR & PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Business Advisory Committee of the Rajya Sabha has cleared the decks for a debate on the Pahalgam attack and Operation Sindoor, likely to begin next Tuesday. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is expected to intervene during the debate and outline the the operation's success. He would have returned from the UK and the Maldives by then.

After four postponements, the Business Advisory Committee, which met on Wednesday, decided to have a 16-hour discussion over two days on the terror attack and Operation Sindoor. The government, however, will not bring any resolution. A source indicated that Modi may also address the Lok Sabha on the subject.

The BAC meeting had been deferred for several reasons, including developments that ended in the dramatic resignation of Vice President Jagdeep Dhankar.

The government has turned down the Opposition's demand for a farewell speech by former vice president Jagdeep Dhankhar, sources said. At the same time, the government agreed to the Opposition's demand that seven retiring MPs be allowed to make farewell speeches.

A reliable source within the Parliament premises stated, "The prime minister is likely to address the Rajya Sabha as part of the debate on Operation Sindoor, most likely on July 29. His remarks will form part of a broader debate on the successful, military-precision operation targeting terror outfits, which were identified to be operating from and sponsored by Pakistan."

"The PM, who is known to leave no aspect of any issue untouched while he speaks in the House, will certainly present Operation Sindoor and other related issues, including the diplomatic missions," a BJP leader said.

It is anticipated that Modi will, directly or indirectly, address concerns surrounding the ceasefire and the frequent claims by the US President regarding mediation, on which the Opposition has demanded the PM speak in Parliament. No official confirmation has yet been issued regarding his participation in the debate, but expectations are building within the ruling NDA.

The PM has referred to Operation Sindoor as a "Vijayautasva" and a moment of national pride. He had described the session as "historic" due to India's accomplishments across various fields, including Operation Sindoor.

Houses adjourned amid SIR uproar

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

BOTH Houses of Parliament were adjourned for the third consecutive day of the Monsoon Session on Wednesday, as opposition continued protests demanding a debate on the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of poll rolls in Bihar.

In the Lok Sabha, opposition MPs stormed into the Well of the House during Question Hour, waving placards and raising slogans such as "SIR wapas lo" (Roll back SIR). Proceedings were first adjourned till 2 PM and then for the rest of the day, as uproar continued.

Speaker Om Birla slammed the protesting MPs, accusing them of behaving "as if they were on the streets." Birla said: "MPs are not supposed to carry placards. If you continue with such acts, I will be forced to take strict steps."

Similar scenes played out in the Rajya Sabha, which was adjourned twice before being suspended for the day The disruption followed the rejection of adjournment motions moved by opposition for discussion on SIR.

Outside Parliament, Leader of the Opposition Rahul Gandhi escalated his attack, alleging widespread electoral fraud. "In India, elections are being stolen. That is the reality," he told reporters, citing a Congress probe into a Karnataka constituency.

'Dhankhar should break silence over resignation'

CPI(M) Rajya Sabha floor leader John Brittas spoke to Preetha Nair about the resignation of former Vice-President Jagdeep Dhankhar. Excerpts:

Do you think Dhankhar's resignation is inexplicable?
There is little confusion with regard to the fact that it was not an organic resignation as nobody believes health was the reason. He had health issues for sure, but the sudden resignation was inspired by something else and we want the government to come clear on it.

The V-P's chair is the second highest constitutional position and the dignity of the Office should be maintained. Many stories are being floated and one of them is that he was asked to step down. This is the first time a V-P has resigned when the session is in progress. The V-P was active on the first day of the session, had called at least three or four meetings, interacted with members and had his plans for the coming days, too. Suddenly, he springs a surprise. It's something which is not digestible to us. We have our own disagreements with him, but that does not mean that a constitutional position can be belittled by the government.

If the Centre is not ready to divulge details, Dhankhar should break his silence.

But the PM has tweeted...
See the difference between the tweet by the Prime Minister when Dhankhar's candidature was declared, where 'Kisan Putra' was used as a glorious adjective for him, and the much-delayed, cryptic tweet from the PM, a two-line which is dry and intriguing. The wide gulf between the two tweets itself has got profound meaning as to what has happened.

You think his statements on judiciary riled the govt?
All his statements are in line with the BJP's ideology and the government's policy. He made a statement in Rajya Sabha saying the RSS is a respected global think tank. He has staunchly supported the government, but there could have been a grey area which would have resulted in his resignation. This shows that an authoritarian government demands 100% allegiance.

Is this about Justice Varma's impeachment?
A notice was given by the Opposition on Justice Varma which he acknowledged and almost admitted as it was. He said it fulfilled the stipulated requirements. Since he has pronounced that, it's an order. So the notice is active. I feel that he was ready to take up the impeachment motion by the Opposition against Justice Shekhar Yadav on hate speech.

Has the INDIA bloc decided on a candidate?
We are waiting for the first move because it's for the government to sound us out. We will have a solid candidate though the numbers are not in our favour.

OVER 37% CHILDREN BELOW FIVE STUNTED

About 37.07% children under the age of five registered on the Poshan Tracker were found to be stunted, 15.93% under weight and 5.46% wasted, according to official data. In response to a question in Rajya Sabha, MoS for Women and Child Development Savitri Thakur said UP reported the highest rate of stunting at 48.83%, followed closely by Jharkhand (43.26%), Bihar (42.68%) and MP (42.09%). Nearly 8.61 crore children up to age of six were registered for these services as of June 2025, a slight decline from previous year's 8.91 crore, according to the data.

CJI: Bench will be set up to hear Justice Varma's plea over probe

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

WITH the process of his impeachment in progress in Parliament for his alleged misconduct in connection with the cash recovery case, Allahabad High Court Justice Yashwant Varma on Wednesday urged the Supreme Court to urgently list his appeal challenging the in-house inquiry report which found him guilty.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for Varma, argued before the three-judge bench headed by CJI B R Gavai, that crucial constitutional matters were involved in the case.

After hearing this submission, the CJI assured Sibal that a bench would be constituted to take up the matter. He, however, did not fix any date to hear it.

The CJI also clarified that it would not be proper for him to be part of the hearing bench in view of his previous involvement in internal discussions surrounding the case. "I think it will not be proper for me to take up that matter because I was a part of that conversation," the CJI said.

Besides the CJI, Justice K Vinod Chandran and Justice Joymalya Bagchi were part of the bench. On July 17, Justice Varma moved an appeal before the top court challenging the in-house probe report which held him guilty of misconduct, arguing that mere recovery of cash from an outhouse of his official residence does not establish his culpability.

RSS chief calls for need to assess impact of new tech on labour markets

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

RSS Chief Mohan Bhagwat on Wednesday emphasised the careful use of technology to ensure it does not affect the labour sector or lead to increased unemployment.

Speaking at an event organised to mark 70 years since the foundation of the Bharatiya Mazdoor Sangh, an RSS affiliate, Bhagwat also highlighted the importance of assessing the impact of emerging technologies on society and the labour market. He underlined the need to pay greater attention to the unorganised sector to ensure employers do not exploit workers.

In an oblique reference to the growing utility of AI, Bhagwat said, "Technology is coming and whenever it comes, it comes with several new questions also. What will happen to unemployment? Will it reduce unemployment, or increase?"

He also noted how current technologies tend to make humanity's nature "a bit harsh" and directly or indirectly limit respect for labour. Though he did not deny the necessity of technology, he offered a note of caution, stating, "Technology can't be rejected as it keeps emerging and coming into the sphere, but how to handle it and ensure that it doesn't affect the labour sector. Certainly needs to be looked into".

Spelling out the broader objective, the Sangh chief further remarked that the use of new technologies should "bring happiness in society, instead of creating new problems". That's why there is a "need to ponder over prudent use of technology and act, and we will have to do this", he added."

At UNSC, India tears into Pak over cross-border terrorism

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

AT a United Nations Security Council (UNSC) meeting chaired by Pakistan, India issued a scathing rebuke of its neighbour, calling for a "serious cost" on nations that sponsor cross-border terrorism. India's permanent representative to the United Nations P Harish described Pakistan as "steeped in fanaticism and terrorism" and a "serial borrower" from the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

The UNSC high-level open debate on "Promoting International Peace and Security through Multilateralism and Peaceful Settlement of Disputes" was presided over by Pakistan's Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Ishaq Dar on Tuesday. Dar used the forum to raise the issues of Jammu and Kashmir and the Indus Waters Treaty, which India has put under suspension after the Pahalgam terror attack.

In a strong response, Harish said: "It ill behoves a member of the Council to offer homilies while indulging in practices that are unacceptable to the international community." Citing the April 22 Pahalgam terror attack that killed 26 tourists, he held Pakistan-based group Lashkar-e-Taiba and its front, The Resistance Front, responsible for the act.

Following the Pahalgam attack and UNSC statement condemning the incident, India launched Operation Sindoor, targeting terror infrastructure in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir. "India's response was focused, measured, and non-escalatory. Military operations ceased immediately after achieving objectives, at Pakistan's request," the envoy said.

He also said that India would hold the Indus Waters Treaty of 1960 in abeyance until Pakistan "credibly and irrevocably abjures support for cross-border terrorism."

Harish contrasted India's development model with that of Pakistan. "On the one hand, there is India—a mature democracy and a surging economy. At the other extreme is Pakistan, steeped in fanaticism and terrorism and a serial borrower from the IMF," he said. In May, the IMF approved another $1 billion loan to Pakistan under the Extended Fund Facility.

Highlighting the evolving nature of global conflict, Harish said non-state actors backed by state sponsors now pose the gravest threat to peace. "Cross-border funding, arms trafficking, radical ideologies, and digital technologies have become tools of disruption," he warned.

NMC GUIDELINES

CENTRE URGED TO MEET SC ORDER ON DISABILITY NORMS

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE largest organisation of health professionals with disabilities in India has written to the Union Health Ministry on Wednesday, urging them to take "corrective action" to meet the Supreme Court directions in the just-released interim guidelines by the National Medical Commission (NMC) for admission of persons with baseline disability candidates (PwBD) in medical courses for the academic year 2025-26.

Dr Vikrant Sirohi, who wrote to the DGHS on behalf of Doctors with Disabilities: Agents of Change, said, "We urge you to take immediate and time-bound corrective action to address the violations in the interim as well as the final guidelines, including expanding the number of medical boards to ensure the presence of at least one board in each state and Union Territory."

The NMC issued the guidelines on July 19, a day after this newspaper published that thousands of medical students with disabilities are in a dilemma as they are still awaiting the revised admission guidelines, as mandated by the SC in its various orders.

Corrective action

Dr. Vikrant Sirohi urged govt to take immediate and time-bound corrective action to address the violations in the interim as well as the final guidelines, including expanding the number of medical boards to ensure the presence of at least one board in each state.

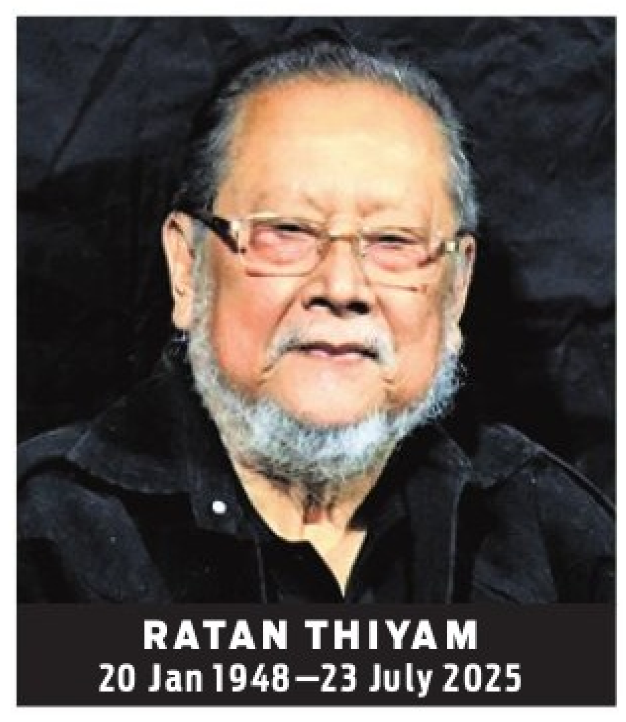
Ratan Thiyam, guru and theatre modernist, leaves the stage

AMAL ALLANA
A theatre director and former NSD chairperson. She has authored a biography on her father, Ebrahim Alkazi: Holding Time Captive

I was sitting in the dark, towards the back of the Kamani auditorium, waiting for Ratan to arrive so that I could discuss some arrangements with him regarding the Bharat Rang Mahotsav's opening performance that evening of his latest play, The King of the Dark Chamber/Raja (2012). There was pin drop silence. Suddenly, the auditorium door swung open and Ratan strode in. His entire troupe sprang to its feet and then en masse, they genuflected in front of him, in total obeisance. He gave some instructions in Manipuri, and soundlessly they tiptoed out to take their positions on the stage for a runthrough.

Never before had I experienced such total and unconditional discipline on the part of actors anywhere in the world! Not even in Alkazi's heyday when he was looked upon as an unrelenting and uncompromising taskmaster! This kind of complete physical and mental subservience to one's Guru, especially in today's world where questioning was encouraged, not stifled… Was this a medieval mindset, unchanged and ingrained in the Manipuri psyche for centuries, a part of their martial background? On reflection, I began to believe that such compliance could only be possible today if the leader was steely and single-minded in his mission, unforgiving and unrelenting till the final goal was achieved. And Ratan was that…totally committed…a perfectionist.

Ratan Thiyam, 77, a luminary of Indian theatre, passed away in Imphal early Wednesday after prolonged illness. He was more than a theatre director. He was a young man with a mission from the day he stepped into the National School of Drama with his eyes eagerly trained on his Guru, Ebrahim Alkazi, listening intently, with every fibre of his being, alert to what his Guru was trying to impart—the larger significance of making theatre, its intention….the seminal role theatre had to play in society through the refinement of the audience's aesthetic sensibilities.. which could only be possible by creating deeply relevant and meaningful art. With Alkazi's ideas ringing in his ears, Ratan returned to Manipur because that was his base, the culture he knew and wished to build upon and explore. Setting up the Chorus Repertory Company, Ratan gradually began to weave his understanding of the Natya Shastras, Manipur's Meitei performing traditions, and Thang-Ta, along with his understanding of modernity as it evolved in the Indian context, into a series of outstanding productions.



RATAN THIYAM
20 Jan 1948—23 July 2025

Creating new texts based on myths, using trained Manipuri actors and martial artists Ratan as theatre director orchestrated music, movement, lighting and stagecraft into powerful choreographed images of compelling beauty and majestic power in productions like the Sanskrit classic Urubhangam and Chakravyuh(1984) and Ritusamharam, while his modern texts included AndhaYug and Antigone(1986). When Nissar Allana invited Ratan to direct an Ibsen play for the Delhi Ibsen Festival, Ratan took up the unusual challenge of doing Ibsen's When We Dead Awaken (2008) and recreating it into a lyrical and haunting production, practically surrealist in its imagery, several moments of which remain imprinted in the mind's eye.

Ratan Thiyam came at a time when we were searching for our cultural roots after a period of colonisation. He not only unearthed latent folk performing traditions of Manipur but was able to resurrect and recreate them, crafting a new modernity in a performance language that spoke to audiences not only across India, but also enriching audiences across the world.

An incident bears repetition. After one of Ratan's performances at the Bharat Rang Mahotsav in Delhi, Mr E. Alkazi was invited to present a bouquet to the director of the play. Alkazi walked onto the stage, and before he could offer the flowers to Ratan, Ratan genuflected in front of his Guru. The audience stood up, applauding. Alkazi motioned them to be silent and said, "One of the most rewarding moments in a teacher's life is to be outstripped by his students."

South Indian language channels to get better representation in DD

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

WITH the viewership of Doordarshan (DD) Free Dish, Prasar Bharti's Direct-To-Home (DTH) service growing manifold times each year, the government is taking various proactive measures to increase the representation of South Indian language channels on the platform.

Accordingly, slots were reserved for these channels in the e-auctions of DD Free Dish earlier this year. The government also simplified eligibility norms to ensure greater participation from private broadcasters in the southern region.

The DTH service has experienced consistent growth in its reach over the past few years, and according to industry estimates for 2024, it now reaches approximately 49 million households. It was 33 million in 2018, signifying positive audience growth.

Minister of State for Information and Broadcasting L. Murugan on Wednesday informed the Lok Sabha that DD's regional channels, such as DD Tamil, DD Saptagiri, DD Chandana, DD Yadagiri, and DD Malayalam, have been onboarded and are being technologically upgraded and better promoted to enhance their visibility.

"Furthermore, dedicated slots were offered for Tamil, Telugu, Kannada, and Malayalam channels in recent e-auctions. Three additional south Indian language private channels, viz. TV9 Telugu, Aastha Kannada and Aastha Telugu, have been onboarded since April 1," his reply read. Apart from this, there are 27 educational channels on DD Free Dish, relayed in various south Indian languages.

- Uproar, walkouts disrupt Assembly business; Nitish's 'child' jibe at RJD leader steps up heat
- 'EC arbitrarily labelling voters as outsiders'

Sparks fly over SIR in Bihar House

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

A fiery confrontation unfolded in the Bihar Assembly on the third day of the ongoing Monsoon session on Wednesday when CM Nitish Kumar and Leader of the Opposition Tejashwi Prasad Yadav clashed over the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in the state in the run-up to the Assembly polls due later this year.

Sharp personal barbs, walkouts and sustained uproar marked the day. The tension escalated after the CM called Tejashwi a 'bachcha' (child) when the latter questioned the process being applied for the SIR.

The day began with Tejashwi questioning the voter verification exercise in the state. Citing reports, he alleged that the Election Commission was arbitrarily levelling voters as "outsiders" and demanded greater transparency. "Only 2% of people have proper documents. Bihar ranks among the in terms of paperwork. Who is the EC to determine citizenship?" he asked.

Tejashwi contended that EC's job was to conduct free and fair elections, not to verify the citizenship of the people. He said that discussion should be held on the issue, adding that the Opposition was not objecting to the SIR but how it was being carried out.

"We are not opposed to the voter list revision," he told the House, quickly adding, "We just have objections over the process it is being conducted."

Tejashwi also accused the two Deputy CMs—Samrat Choudhary and Vijay Kumar Sinha—of branding voters "Bangladeshis". At this, Nitish stood up and stopped Tejashwi from speaking. "You are a child. You know nothing of matters like these. Only three days are left of this last session of the House. Let it conduct legislative business. Whatever rubbish you want to speak, you may do it to your heart's content during elections," said the longest-serving CM.

Tensions escalated when RJD MLA Bhai Birendra, responding to rebukes from the Speaker Nand Kishore Yadav, snapped, "Does this House belong to anybody's father?" The remark prompted demands for an apology.

Outside the chamber, Opposition members blocked the main entrance, forcing the ruling party legislators to enter through an alternative gate.

Birendra's remark created pandemonium in the House, prompting Speaker Nand Kishore Yadav to adjourn the House till the lunch recess.

Two JD(U) lawmakers slam poll panel exercise

Amid uproar over the special intensive revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Bihar, two lawmakers of the ruling JD(U) have gone out on a limb to criticise the move. Party MLA from Parbatta Sanjeev Kumar has expressed concern about poor people, particularly migrant labourers, from his constituency being left out of the voters' list. Likewise, MP Giridhari Yadav has questioned the short time frame of the exercise, sharing, "It took me 10 days to collect all documents. My son stays in America... how will he complete all formalities in just a month?"

Tejashwi hints at poll boycott over roll revision

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

RJD leader Tejashwi Prasad Yadav on Wednesday created a flutter in political circles when he hinted at a possible boycott of the upcoming Assembly elections over the Election Commission (EC)'s special intensive revision (SIR) of the electoral rolls in Bihar.

Tejashwi said, "When you're not even conducting elections honestly — if you're going to conduct polls based on a voter list given by the BJP — then what's the point of holding an election? If there's going to be dishonesty from the start, why even hold elections? The EC might as well just give an extension to the present government instead of conducting polls. There is a fight between those who are trying to finish democracy and those who want to save it."

Asked whether the Opposition could mutually decide to boycott the elections, Tejashwi, who is also the chairman of Opposition INDIA bloc's coordination committee, said, "That too can be discussed. We will see what the people want and what everyone's opinion is."

As deadline nears, EC says enumeration forms collected from 98% voters

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India on Wednesday said the SIR exercise has covered 98.01 percent of the total registered electorate of 7,89,69,844 and their enumeration forms have been received and digitised.

A senior poll panel official said, "Genuine electors in Bihar are asking BLOs if the critics of SIR want to enable bogus voting through the presence in the voter lists of voters who have died or shifted out, have duplicate votes, and are illegal migrants or non-existent."

ECI data show that nearly 20 lakh deceased electors have been identified and reported, whereas 28 lakh electors who have permanently migrated from their registered constituencies have also been flagged for removal from the rolls.

The panel said that nearly seven lakh electors were found to have been enrolled at more than one location, while one lakh electors were untraceable despite multiple verification attempts.Meanwhile, 15 lakh electors' forms remain unreturned, posing a challenge to the final consolidation of updated records, it said.

However, the drive has seen significant success in digitisation, with 7.17 crore electors' forms, accounting for 90.89 percent, already received and fully digitised, the poll panel said.

The officials said that the electoral rolls clean-up exercise is part of a broader initiative of the Commission to enhance the integrity of the electoral process and ensure that only eligible voters are on the rolls.

The Commission also appealed to the remaining electors to cooperate in returning pending forms and updating their details where necessary.

The Election Commission has made it easier for electors temporarily residing outside Bihar, and who have not registered elsewhere, to participate in the revision process. These individuals can submit their Enumeration Forms online through the official portal https://electors.eci.gov.in or the ECINet mobile app.

All is well with Yogi and Brij Bhushan Sharan

"He is the 'mukhya mantri' (CM), and I am 'khali mantri' (empty minister). I have to bow down," said former MP and ex-chief of Wrestling Federation of India, Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, after he met with CM Yogi Adityanath earlier this week. The Bahubali politician had last met Adityanath over three years ago.

And he philosophised: "Since he holds a higher position, I must bow down. I stand at the crossroads, like Kabir in the marketplace, wishing everyone well, with no special friendships or enmities." Singh scotched rumours of cold ties between them. "Both found the meeting pleasant," he added.

From Bahraich to global beauty pageant

Hailing from the Bahraich district, Savita Varma, 44, always aspired to fly big time. She realised her dream when she was selected to represent India in the global pageant Mrs Universe 2025, in the Philippines between October 1-9. Savita, a mother of two daughters, is a teacher and yoga instructor. With her husband's unflinching cooperation, Savita is now preparing 20 hours a day to compete. Once well settled in family life, she decided to fulfil "my dreams", said Savita. In 2023, she saw a beauty contest ad on Facebook and gave an audition. She was selected and went on to ace the Mrs UP contest. That boosted her confidence to dream bigger.

Row over Akhilesh's meet in mosque

Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav's selection of a Delhi mosque as the venue to meet his party MPs created a political ripple in UP. Rivals, including Deputy CM Brajesh Pathak, accused him of misusing religion, calling him 'Namazwadi'. "The Constitution clearly states that religion must not be used for political ends," Pathak said. "Faith unites, not divides," Akhilesh shot back. "We stand with anything that connects people through faith, but BJP wants to keep people apart." On Tuesday, Akhilesh and his MPs went to the mosque where Rampur MP Mohibullah Nadvi is the Imam. Didn't the Yogi Adityanath Cabinet meet at the Mahakumbh?

Youth clicking herd of jumbos crushed to death

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

A youth photographing a herd of wildelephants in Jharkhand's Koderma district was trampled by a jumbo after he lost his balance and fell on the ground, sources said on Wednesday.

Saddam Ansari, 29, was initially taken to Sadar Hospital in Koderma, which then referred him to Rajendra Institute of Medical Sciences in Ranchi, where doctors declared him dead. An eyewitness reported that Saddam approached the elephant with two friends to take photographs. Angered by their proximity, the elephant began to chase them.

While his friends managed to escape, Saddam lost his balance and fell. At this, the elephant then picked him up with its trunk, slammed him to the ground multiple times, and ultimately crushed him to death.

Locals said that a herd of elephants had been roaming near Chopnadih since the previous night, causing damage to standing crops in the area. "The tragedy happened when Saddam went out with his friends to photograph the wild elephants, leading to his death," one of the locals remarked. The wild tuskers roaming in Garhwa, had killed three people in the last week of June this year.

9 feared trapped as illegal mine gives way in J'khand dist; officials remain mum

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

NINE people are feared buried when an illegal mine near Jamunia River at Kesargarha under Baghmara Police Station in Dhanbad collapsed in the intervening night of Tuesday and Wednesday. There is no official confirmation of the incident or the fate of trapped persons yet.

Locals reported that 15 workers were in the mine at the time. The accident occurred because the weak pillars supporting the carbonaceous rock caused the rock to collapse.

"As many as nine people are feared buried under the debris of the illegal mine, which was being operated by a local mining mafia," a nearby resident shared, speaking on the condition of anonymity.

Locals reported that people passing through the mining area are being monitored, and no one is allowed to approach it. As a result, the rescue operations began only on Wednesday morning. Notably, even the journalists were not allowed to go near the illegal mine.

Baghmara police station in-charge Ajit Kumar said that he has not received any information about the incident. At the same time, the nodal security officer for the Block-2 area, Rajiv Ranjan, has also expressed ignorance. Meanwhile, Jamshedpur West MLA Saryu Rai posted on X (formerly Twitter): "9 workers died tonight due to the collapse of an illegal mining mine at a place called Jamunia in Bagmara, Dhanbad. The illegal mining mafia is busy disposing of the bodies of the deceased. I have informed #ssp #Dhanbad about this."

In his post, Rai has named mining mafia leader Chunchun Gupta and alleged that he is carrying out illegal mining under the protection of influential individuals.

'Not aware', says police station in-charge

Locals reported that people passing through the mining area are being monitored, and no one is allowed to approach it. As a result, rescue operations began only on Wednesday morning. Even the journalists were not allowed to go near the illegal mine. Baghmara police station in-charge Ajit Kumar said that he has not received any information about the incident. Gujarat ATS busts Al-Qaeda terror module; four nabbed

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

IN a high-stakes anti-terror operation, the Gujarat Anti-Terrorist Squad (ATS) has arrested four men with suspected links to Al-Qaeda. The accused were allegedly involved in radicalising youth and promoting jihad through social media and encrypted apps.

The accused, Mohammad Faiq Rizwan (Delhi), Mohammad Fardeen Rais (Fatehwadi, Ahmedabad), Saifullah Qureshi Rafiq (Modasa, Gujarat), and Zeeshan Ali Asif Ali (Noida), were allegedly part of a covert digital network spreading jihadist literature and inciting violence.

According to ATS DIG Sunil Joshi, the operation followed a tip-off received on June 10, which led to the surveillance of five suspicious Instagram accounts. The probe revealed that accounts such as "Mujahideen 1" and "Mujahideen 3" were spewing pro-Al-Qaeda and anti-democracy content. Further digital forensics traced these accounts back to the arrested men.

The ATS discovered that the accused were actively sharing Al-Qaeda literature, radical posts, and inflammatory videos. A sword and digital evidence were seized from one of the accused in Fatehwadi, while links of the Delhi-based suspects to individuals in Pakistan have also surfaced. Officials confirmed that the arrested men were using auto-deleting apps to communicate and evade detection.

One of the accused, Asif, was reportedly posting speeches of a deceased terrorist named Umar, who was killed in Afghanistan. His messages in English and Urdu glorified jihad and sought to spread Sharia rule in India. ATS sources also found content linked to "Operation Sindoor", containing explicit anti-India narratives.

The accused had allegedly been radicalised through encrypted channels and extremist groups on various social media platforms. Their online behaviour, group affiliations, and continuous monitoring of Gujarat's internal movements raised red flags for the ATS.

A case has been registered under Sections 13, 18, 38, and 39 of the UAPA, along with Sections 113, 152, 196, and 61 of the Bhartiya Nyay Sanhita 2023.

All accused remanded to 14-day custody

All four accused have been remanded to 14-day custody. Officials believe more suspects may be linked to this module. The operation is ongoing, with multiple digital trails and chat logs under scrutiny.

CCTV watch irks trainee women cops in UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AMID repeated claims by Yogi Adityanath on the UP government's commitment to women safety, protests erupted at the PAC (Provincial Armed Constabulary) training centre in Bichhia, Gorakhpur, on Wednesday morning as over 600 trainee female constables stormed out of their barracks, crying and shouting slogans.

The commotion, triggered merely two days after the commencement of training for the female constables on July 21, began over allegations of grave mismanagement, lack of basic amenities, and disturbingly, presence of surveillance cameras near the bathroom area, compromising the privacy of trainee woman constables.

As per sources, the protesting trainees alleged presence of CCTV cameras in the bathroom galleries, claiming they were being recorded. According to multiple trainees, it made the feel violated and unsafe.

One of the protesters said the officers who visited them on Tuesday did nothing to address the issue, instead scolding them for raising the concern.

The trainees also complained about overcrowding and lack of basic amenities at the centre. The training facility, designed to accommodate 360 trainees, is currently housing over 600 women, constricting space and resources. They alleged the facility had no electricity and little water supply, forcing the women to endure dire living conditions.

Amid severe lack of amenities, an official directive ordering mandatory pregnancy tests for unmarried female constables only further enraged the trainees. The tests were reportedly included as part of a general health check-up prior to commencement of training. The move was met with immediate backlash, with the women trainee constables flagging it as discriminatory and invasive.

In view of protests, IG Training Chandra Prakash intervened and rolled back the DIG order, clarifying that no pregnancy test would be conducted on any female constable.

Ramcharitmanas invoked to pep up homesick recruits

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

HAVING cleared the 2023 constable recruitment exam held by MP police, around 300 of the 3,000-plus new recruits are reportedly 'homesick', and have requested the police headquarters to transfer them to police training schools (PTS) nearest to their native districts during the nine-month training.

Concerned over the tendency, ADG-Training Raja Babu Singh, aiming to dissuade such recruits, asked them to draw inspiration from Lord Ram. "Give them examples from Ramcharitmanas... If Lord Ram could spend 14 long years in exile, why can't they undergo nine-month training in the allotted PTS," Singh told heads of PTS.

Underperforming teachers in U'khand plains to be transferred to hilly areas

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

IN a unprecedented move aimed at elevating school educational standards in the state, the Uttarakhand education ministry is poised to implement a decisive new transfer policy.

According to sources, the initiative will specifically target teachers who have consistently delivered sub-par academic results. Dubbed one of the department's more "unconventional decrees," the revamped policy mandates that teachers demonstrating poor academic performance in the plain regions over past two years will be compulsorily transferred to schools located in the state's challenging hilly terrains.

This measure is being widely viewed not just as a disciplinary action but also as a strategic redeployment for those deemed to have "damaged the future of children" through ineffective teaching. The underlying idea ensures every teacher contributes meaningfully to student success.

"The 2017 Transfer Act previously governed all employee transfers, but the education department has now drafted a specific new policy tailored exclusively for teachers," Uttarakhand education minister Dhan Singh Rawat told this newspaper. "This comprehensive policy, slated for presentation to the Cabinet very soon, fundamentally redefines the state's geographical divisions for transfer purposes. Instead of the previous 'Accessible' and 'Inaccessible' zones, the state will now be categorised into 'Hilly' and 'Plain' regions."

Rawat further elaborated on the stringent criteria for these mandatory transfers: "Under the new rules, any teacher whose students' class 10 or 12 board examination results have been consistently poor for two consecutive academic years will face compulsory relocation to the hills. To be eligible for these mandatory transfers, teachers must also have accumulated at least 16 service points." These service points are typically calculated based on factors like years of service and postings in remote areas.

Designated terrains

All transfers will be conducted transparently through an online system, with allocation based on service points accumulated in either mountainous or plain regions. The policy categorises Uttarkashi, Chamoli, Pithoragarh, and Bageshwar as high hill districts. Other non-plain areas, including parts of Tehri, Rudraprayag, Pauri, Dehradun, Almora, Champawat, and Nainital, will be designated as low hill districts.

Columbia expels students, revokes degrees over anti-Israel protests

Sanctions follow sit-in as univ seeks to restore $400M in federal aid

Smokes rises after an explosion during Israeli air and ground operations in the Gaza Strip as seen from southern Israel | AP

NEW YORK

COLUMBIA University said Tuesday it has issued various punishments, including expulsions and degree revocations, against various students involved in anti-Israel protests on campus.

The sanctions, which a student group said targeted nearly 80 people, come as the New York institution negotiates with President Donald Trump's administration to restore $400 million in cut federal funding.

Trump has applied intense pressure on the prestigious university and others, accusing them of failing to address alleged anti-Semitism amid nationwide protests last year against Israel's war in Gaza.

Columbia, which was the epicenter of the campus protests, has agreed to implement a series of policy reforms in an attempt to regain the federal funding, sparking anger from many students.

Fellow Ivy League institution Harvard has also been targeted with billions in funding cuts, but is fighting the pressure campaign in court.

The latest sanctions by Columbia stem from a library sit-in this past May, as well as an encampment set up during alumni weekend in spring 2024, the university said in a statement. The library protest disrupted hundreds of students during an exam study period, it said, with punishments including "probation, suspensions (ranging from one year to three years), degree revocations, and expulsions." "The University does not release individual disciplinary results of any student," the statement said.

It did not specify which punishments had been issued for the spring 2024 encampment, which occurred after larger protests -- including the occupation of an academic building -- but Columbia said it was "the final set of findings from that period." The student group Columbia University Apartheid Divest (CUAD), which calls for the school to cut all financial ties with Israel, said the library-related sanctions "hugely exceed precedent for teach-ins or non-Palestine-related building occupations."

"We will not be deterred. We are committed to the struggle for Palestinian liberation," the group said. AFP

TOP ADVISER TO BIBI WILL MEET US ENVOY

Washington: President Donald Trump's special envoy, Steve Witkoff, planned to head to the Middle East as the US tries once again to reach a ceasefire deal between Israel and Hamas, the State Department's spokesperson said Tuesday. Department spokesperson Tammy Bruce told reporters that Witkoff was going to the region with a "strong hope" that the US can deliver a ceasefire deal as well as a new humanitarian corridor for aid distribution. Three US officials said Witkoff is traveling to Europe this week to discuss a range of issues, including Gaza and the push for a ceasefire, but they had no details about Middle East stops and did not share where specifically Witkoff would travel to and when. Israeli strikes killed 21 as aid groups warn of starvation

DEIR AL-BALAH

ISRAELI strikes in Gaza killed at least 21 people late Tuesday and early Wednesday, health officials said, as hunger worsened among Palestinians struggling to live under the weight of the 21-month war.

Desperation is mounting in the Palestinian territory of more than 2 million. An official familiar with the negotiations said Wednesday that special envoy Steve Witkoff planned to head to Rome for talks with an Israeli official as the U.S. tries to reach a ceasefire deal between Israel and Hamas.

Experts say Gaza is at risk of famine because of Israel's blockade and nearly two-year offensive. A breakdown of law and order has led to widespread looting and contributed to chaos and violence around aid deliveries.

More than 1,000 Palestinians have been killed by Israeli forces since May while trying to get food in the Gaza Strip, mostly near aid sites run by an American contractor, the UN human rights office said Tuesday. More than 100 human rights groups and charities signed a letter published Wednesday demanding more aid for Gaza and warning of starvation.

More than 59,000 Palestinians have been killed during the Israel-Hamas war, according to Gaza's Health Ministry. Its count doesn't distinguish between militants and civilians, but the ministry says that more than half of the dead are women and children. AP

UN top court rules climate-harmed countries could claim reparations

Activists demonstrate outside the International Court of Justice ahead of an advisory opinion on what legal obligations nations have to address climate change and what consequences they may face if they don't | AP

THE United Nations' top court says that countries harmed by climate change could be entitled to reparations for the damage they have suffered from rising global temperatures, but what they are owed should be determined on a "case by case" basis.

The finding is part of an advisory opinion by the International Court of Justice in a landmark case about nations' obligations to tackle climate change and consequences they may face if they don't. The court has been reading a summary of the non-binding opinion, which runs to over 500 pages.

The court said that if countries fail to take measures to protect the planet from climate change, they could be in violation of international law. The International Court of Justice was delivering an advisory opinion in a landmark case about nations' obligations to tackle climate change and the consequences they may face if they don't, calling it an "urgent and existential" threat to humanity.

"Failure of a state to take appropriate action to protect the climate system ... may constitute an internationally wrongful act," court President Yuji Iwasawa said during the hearing.

The non-binding opinion, which runs to over 500 pages, is seen as a potential turning point in international climate law. The court also said a "clean, healthy and sustainable environment" is a human right. Enshrining a sustainable environment as a human right paves the way for other legal actions, including states returning to the ICJ to hold each other to account as well as domestic lawsuits, along with legal instruments like investment agreements. The case is led by the Pacific island nation of Vanuatu and backed by more than 130 countries.

All UN member states including major greenhouse gas emitters like the United States and China are parties to the court.

Outside the court, climate activists gathered with a banner that read: "Courts have spoken. The law is clear. States must act now." The courtroom, known as the Great Hall of Justice, was packed.

After years of lobbying by vulnerable island nations who fear they could disappear under rising sea waters, the UN General Assembly asked the ICJ in 2023 for an advisory opinion, an important basis for international obligations.

A panel of 15 judges was asked to address two questions: What are countries' legal obligations to protect the climate from human-caused emissions, and what are the consequences when governments significantly harm the climate through action or inaction? AP

KYIV

ACTIVISTS on Wednesday called for more protests of a new law that they say weakens Ukraine's anti-corruption watchdogs, following the first major anti-government demonstration in over three years of war. The legislation also has drawn rebukes from European Union officials and international rights groups, as well as putting increased pressure on President Volodymyr Zelenskyy and endangering his public support at a critical phase of the war.

Later Wednesday, delegations from Russia and Ukraine were set to meet in Istanbul for a third round of direct talks in two months, although hopes for a breakthrough were low.

In the morning, Zelenskyy convened the heads of Ukraine's key anti-corruption and security agencies in response to the outcry against his decision to approve the law that was passed by parliament.

"We all hear what society says," Zelenskyy wrote on Telegram after the meeting. But he insisted the new legal framework was needed to crack down harder on corruption.

"Criminal cases should not drag on for years without verdicts, and those working against Ukraine must not feel comfortable or immune from punishment," he said. Zelenskyy said all government agencies agreed to work constructively and respond to public expectations for fairness and effectiveness. A detailed joint action plan is expected within two weeks, aimed at addressing institutional weaknesses, removing legal hurdles, and ensuring justice across the board, he said. Thousands protested Tuesday urging Zelenskyy to veto the bill. After he signed it, activists called for another protest Wednesday in central Kyiv. AP

Infy net profit up 9% at ₹6,921 cr

Company revises revenue guidance to 1-3% for FY26 from the earlier guidance of 0-3%

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE country's second-largest IT services company, Infosys, has beat Street estimates and reported a strong start to the financial year with an 8.7% increase in its consolidated net profit for the quarter ended June 2025 at ₹6,921 crore compared to ₹6,368 crore in the year-ago period. Revenue from operations in the June quarter stood at ₹42,279 crore, growth of 7.5% year-on-year compared to ₹39,315 crore.

Based on the company's Q1 performance and its outlook, Infosys has revised its revenue guidance to 1% to 3% for FY26 from the earlier guidance of 0% to 3%. The company has retained its operating margin guidance at 20-22%. In the June quarter, Infosys' operating margin stood at 20.8% and its total contract value (TCV) of large deal wins was at $3.8 billion, with 55% net new in Q1.

"Growth was broad-based with our large five industry groups and our large geographies growing year on year in constant currency. Our large deals were at $3.8 billion. The main drivers of our growth were a leadership in enterprise AI and a continued success in clients selecting us for consolidations. We are seeing good demand for AI agents," Salil Parekh, CEO and MD, Infosys, said at the company's post-earnings conference.

It has built 300 agents across business, operations and IT areas and they are now deployed with its clients. The company has increased the lower end of the guidance due to Q1 performance and deal wins. CFO Jayesh Sanghrajka said, "We have increased our lower end from 0 to 1%. At the same time on the upper end, we still see possible uncertainty on the back of tariffs and on the whole macro environment."

With 12.3% YoY growth in constant currency, Europe is growing faster for the company. As far as revenues by segments, financial services stood at 27.9%, followed by manufacturing at 16.1%. With AI, the company is seeing a lot of productivity benefits. "On a macro basis, all clients are quite focused on enterprise AI. There are industries, specifically logistics, consumer product goods, manufacturing where we see the impact of the changes in the economic situations. There is quite a lot of attention on cost and efficiency of their (clients) own operations even if they are not impacted by the changes in the economy," the CEO said.

'We expect to continue hiring; we haven't stopped any of lateral hires' Infosys on Wednesday said they will continue hiring in line with what they have announced at the beginning of the year.

In April this year, Infosys said that it would hire 20,000 + freshers in FY26. On wage hikes, CFO Jayesh Sanghrajka said they did a wage hike already. First part was effective January 2025 and the second phase was already rolled out in April. On lateral hiring, the CFO said they have not stopped or deferred any of the lateral hires.

Answering a query on the bench policy, Salil Parekh, CEO and MD said employees are provided opportunities for training and learning projects and then they are deployed onto client projects when they're ready. SC rejects Maran's plea for ₹1.3k cr damage from Spicejet

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a major relief for the current promoters of budget airline SpiceJet, the Supreme Court on Wednesday dismissed a plea filed by Kalanithi Maran and KAL Airways challenging a Delhi High Court order that had rejected their claim seeking ₹1,323 crore in damages from SpiceJet.

The top court passed the order in a special leave petition, wherein the division bench dismissed their plea on the grounds of delay.

Kalanithi Maran, media baron and former owner of SpiceJet, and KAL Airways earlier this month moved Supreme Court against the Delhi High Court's May order that dismissed their pleas seeking ₹1,323 crore in damages from SpiceJet.

This fresh ruling is likely to be the final hearing in the long contested legal battle between the current and former promoters of the budget airline. Earlier, an arbitral tribunal had also rejected KAL Airways ₹1,323 crore damages claim against the airline.

In May, Delhi High Court had dismissed KAL Airways and businessman Maran's appeal seeking over ₹1,300 crore in damages from SpiceJet. The high court had accused Maran of engaging in "calculated gamble" and cited "deliberate and wilful concealment of facts." The dispute between the two parties dates back to February 2015 when Maran and KAL Airways had transferred their 58.46% stake in SpiceJet to Ajay Singh for ₹2.

Under the agreement, KAL and Maran were to receive redeemable warrants and preference share in return for the ₹679 crore which they spent on SpiceJet.

In 2017, Maran approached Delhi HC and claimed that neither the convertible warrants and preference shares were issued nor the money was returned.

An arbitration panel in 2018 rejected Maran's claim of damages of ₹1,323 crore for not issuing warrants to him and KAL Airways, but awarded him a refund of ₹579 crore with interest component. Since then, the case has appeared several times in Delhi High Court and the Supreme Court.

In May 2024, SpiceJet said that it strongly refutes the claims made by KAL Airways and Kalanithi Maran regarding seeking damages of ₹1323 crore.

US trade deals with Japan, Indonesia hold lessons for India

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

AS India continues to negotiate a potential trade agreement with the United States, Washington's latest deals with Japan and Indonesia offer both valuable lessons and cautionary signals.

On Tuesday, the US announced separate trade pacts with the two Asian economies. Under the agreement with Japan, the US will impose a 15% tariff on Japanese imports, lower than the initially proposed 25%. In return, Japan has agreed to grant tariff-free access to US farm products and commit a significant investment of $550 billion in the US economy. Indonesia has secured a reduction in US tariffs to 19% from a proposed 40%. In exchange, Jakarta will eliminate tariffs on 99% of US exports, effectively opening its market to a wide range of American industrial, tech, and agricultural goods.

Experts believe India could see a similar framework in its own trade deal. The expected US tariff rate on Indian exports may range between 15-20%. While India may be required to significantly reduce or eliminate tariffs on US imports, it could still enjoy a relative advantage over countries like Vietnam and Indonesia. The US has imposed a 20% tariff on Vietnamese exports.

"Even if the US settles for a 15-20% tariff on Indian goods, that would put India in a relatively better position compared to many ASEAN countries," says trade economist Ritesh Kumar Singh. Former commerce secretary Anup Wadhawan noted that unless the global community retaliates, the US is likely to continue imposing such tariffs unchallenged.

However, experts have urged caution, especially when it comes to American demands concerning India's farm sector. Ajay Srivastava, founder of the Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI), says India is under pressure to allow remanufactured goods, open up its agriculture and dairy sectors, accept genetically modified (GM) feed, and adopt US rules on digital trade and product standards.

"These are fundamental shifts that could affect India's long-term ability to manage its economy, protect public health, and support local industries," Srivastava warned.

Highlighting the stakes, he added: "For a country like India, where agriculture underpins livelihoods, food security for 700 million people, and political stability, agreeing to greater market access for US farm goods could have serious long-term consequences."

Forex reserves of $700 bn covers 95% of external debt, says RBI bulletin

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE country's foreign exchange reserves, which stood at close to $700 billion in the latest reporting week, can cover 95% of external debt outstanding at the end March 2025, and can take care of over 11 months of goods imports cover, as per the Reserve Bank's July bulletin released on Wednesday.

"The external sector remained resilient, backed by ample forex reserves and a moderate external debt-to-GDP ratio. At the current level, reserves cover 95% of external debt outstanding at the end March 2025, and can provide over 11 months of goods imports cover," the bulletin said. Forex reserves stood at $699.74 billion for the week to July 18, down by $3.04 billion, as per the RBI data, which attributed to the reduction in foreign currency assets, while gold reserves saw a slight increase.

The forex reserves had stood at $702.78 billion as of June 27, up by $4.8 billion from the previous week and had peaked at $704.885 billion for the week to September 27, 2024. RBI made net forex purchases of $1.76 billion in spot forex market in May. This comes after it remained net seller of $1.66 billion in April. The RBI's gross purchase was $9.12 billion and sold $7.36 billion in the spot market in May.

This was because rupee was under pressure, depreciating by 1% in June against dollar. The RBI's net outstanding forward dollar sale stood at $65.2 billion in April as against a net sale of $72.6 billion in March, the data showed. Meanwhile, in another article called the state of the economy in the bulletin, which is not the official position of the RBI, the authors said the domestic economy held up amid tariff policy uncertainties as global macroeconomic environment remained fluid in June and July so far amid geopolitical tensions and tariff policy uncertainties.

"Despite global uncertainties, our economy remains resilient, supported by strong macroeconomic fundamentals," the article said, adding easing inflation, front-loaded government expenditure and targeted fiscal measures and a normal monsoons would support aggregate demand in the coming months.

At the current level, reserves cover 95% of external debt outstanding at the end March 2025, and can provide over 11 months of goods imports cover

TI ACQUIRES IMPERIAL BLUE WHISKEY BIZ

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIAN-Made Foreign Liquor (IMFL) manufacturer - Tilaknagar Industries Limited (TI) - is acquiring Imperial Blue whisky business division (IB) from French liquor giant Pernod Ricard for an enterprise value of ₹4,150 crore. The consideration includes deferred payment of 28 million (₹282 crore as of date), to be paid four years after the date of closure of the transaction. The proposed transaction includes the acquisition of the IB, with 22.4 million 9-litre cases sold in the year ended March 2025 across India and other markets, including two owned units and services from co-manufacturing bottlers across India. "Having achieved leadership in the brandy segment, it is now time for us to broaden our portfolio and cater to India's diverse and evolving consumer base.

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THERE is no revenue loss to Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) due to the leasing of its tower infrastructure to Reliance Jio Infocomm Ltd. (RJIL), country's largest telecom service provider, said Minister of State for Communications Pemmasani Chandra Sekhar on Wednesday.

The minister, replying to a question in the Lok Sabha, said the revenue loss estimated by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG) in its March 2025 report, amounting to ₹1,944.92 crore, was based on a misinterpretation of an "add-on technology clause" in the Master Service Agreement (MSA) between BSNL and RJIL. He affirmed that BSNL has since rectified the clause and issued revised invoices to RJIL, thereby addressing the discrepancy. "There is no revenue loss to BSNL and the government. The estimate of CAG was based on the misinterpretation of the clause of add-on technology, which has now been rectified in a transparent and equitable manner. BSNL has since raised the revised invoices from RJIL," said Pemmasani Chandra Sekhar.

The CAG's audit report highlighted serious lapses in contractual compliance, billing, planning, and internal controls, which caused a cumulative financial loss of ₹1,944.92 crore to BSNL. The most significant component of this loss, ₹1,757.76 crore, was attributed to under-billing in the sharing of passive infrastructure.

GST lens on UPI payments may drive small biz back into cash: SBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE aggressive tax enforcement targeting small businesses could undermine the gains of tax formalisation under the goods and services tax (GST), and could push them back into the cash economy, SBI Research has warned in a report.

"A recent case from Karnataka illustrates this tension of aggressive tax enforcement under the GST regime, where numerous small traders and shopkeepers in Bengaluru have received disproportionately high tax notices, primarily based on digital footprints such as UPI transactions," the report said.

Urging moderation, the report said, "While the intent to capture a more accurate picture of economic activity and reduce tax evasion is commendable, such enforcement must be balanced with sensitivity. The risk is that overly aggressive scrutiny could drive small businesses back into the informal cash-based economy undermining the very purpose of formalisation."

The report penned by the bank's chief economic advisor Soumaykanti Ghosh, further argues that inclusivity must remain the central tenet of GST's future. "GST has laid the foundation for greater accountability and revenue generation, but its long-term success will depend on ensuring that it empowers all stakeholders, especially small traders, instead of penalising them," Ghosh warned.

On July 1, 2025, GST has completed eight years. Introduced in 2017 as a major step towards economic integration, GST has replaced a maze of indirect taxes with a unified system but with multiple rates, which is against the very notion of this tax regime though as the current GST structure consists of four main rate slabs: 5%, 12%, 18% and 28% and then three special rates: 3% on gold, silver, diamond & jewellery, 1.5% on cut and polished diamonds, and 0.25% on rough diamonds.

Sports governance bill tabled, sweeping powers to sports board

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

SPORTS Minister Mansukh Mandaviya tabled the National Sports Governance Bill in the Parliament on Wednesday. The Bill envisages bringing in a comprehensive legislation to improve "the governance of the sports bodies and achieve better results in sports and reduce the disputes and litigation, inter alia, involving sports federations".

The Bill "would want to curb factionalism, and administrative interventions which adversely affects the organised development of sports and related activities in India". Even the International Olympic Committee (IOC) was consulted before finalizing. However, implementation of the chapters and clauses in the Bill will be crucial. The Bill has grouped all sports organizations under one head and has named them as National Sports Bodies (NSB). This includes the National Olympic Committee (namely the Indian Olympic Association); the National Paralympic Committee (IPC); National Sports Federations (NSFs); and Regional Sports Federation for each designated sport. The Bill also has the same rules governing all sports bodies including election. The NSB will give recognition to the Indian Olympic Association (IOA), National Sports Federations and Regional Sports Federations. As of now the sports ministry has been giving yearly recognition to national sports bodies but once the Bill becomes an Act, the board will be both the monitoring agency and regulatory body for overseeing the functioning of the IOA and NSFs. But the sports ministry will not only be involved in constituting the NSB but also the members of the election panel and tribunal. Which means the sports ministry and NSBs will have sweeping powers.

All eyes on BCCI

This means India will have a regulatory body that will give recognition to all sports bodies namely NSB. All eyes have shifted to the Indian cricket board (BCCI) even though the sports ministry has said that BCCI as a sports body should be part of it (law of the land). However, the BCCI has said they would need to study the Bill before commenting. One point that the BCCI would be wary of is that all sports bodies are considered as public authority under the Right to Information Act. Interestingly, there are provisions in the Bill that can help BCCI wriggle out too. Chapter VII says that "Only a recognised sports organisation shall be eligible to receive grants or any other financial assistance from the Central Government." And the BCCI doesn't request funding from the ministry. Even for using insignia they can get no objection from the NSB. The formation of the National Sports Tribunal is another move aimed at reducing the number of litigations pending in various courts. The Bill says that all pending cases will be transferred to the tribunal after it becomes an Act. And no civil court in the country will have jurisdiction over sports matters.

Restrictive clause

The provision that was later included and was not mentioned earlier was the restrictive clause – the same clause the minister had objected to during the IOA case in the Supreme Court. However, the Bill says, "such person is a sportsperson of outstanding merit or, has previously served as a member of the Executive Committee for at least two full terms, if such person is contesting election for the position of the President or the Secretary General or the Treasurer." Basically, there is an exception for sportspersons. One must not forget what happened in the IOA where the majority of the members are sportspersons. If the ministry wanted to stop paradropping, they should have made it mandatory to serve in the EC to be eligible to contest for the post of president, secretary and treasurer. The last three years have shown that all great sportspersons don't make great administrators.

Test of patience and perseverance

Injury scare for Pant again as Jaiswal, Sai Sudharsan score fifties to take India to 264/4

Express in England

FIROZ MIRZA

@MANCHESTER

DAY One of the fourth Test between India and England here at the Old Trafford Ground swung both ways on Wednesday as the two teams looked to outdo each other in an evenly contested battle. The visitors started brilliantly despite being asked to bat in overcast conditions but the hosts wrested back the control every time Shubman Gill and Co looked set to break free.

Opener Yashasvi Jaiswal (58) and B Sai Sudharsan (61) slammed a fifty each but it was England skipper Ben Stokes, who stole the limelight with his near perfect bowling changes and incisive spells that earned him important wickets in form of Gill and Sudharsan. Injury on right foot to wicketkeeper-batter Rishabh Pant, that forced him off the field mid innings, didn't help India's cause either. Earlier, Stokes once again won the toss, fourth in a row, and invited India to bat.

With the typical Manchester weather and clouds covering the sky completely, the decision seemed perfect. The Englishman did the same in 2023 against Australia and the bowlers proved him right as they reduced their opponents to 299/8 at stumps on Day 1. The hosts could be deemed unlucky in that match as rain prevented any play on the last day helping the visitors to escape unhurt despite being in a precarious position.

But by doing so, Stokes once again challenged the old standing record of the venue, to be precise 141-year-old, as a team opting to field first has never won a match here. The first two hours of the play, however, suggested they might have erred in their decision as India openers KL Rahul and Jaiswal gave a solid start to the team.

Chris Woakes, who bowled a wonderful first spell of eight overs without any success to his name, gave the team an opening when he dismissed Rahul in the fourth over after the break. The crucial breakthrough infused new energy into the England side as Brydon Carse and Woakes bowled two maiden overs to put pressure on Jaiswal and B Sai Sudharsan. They succeeded in their plans as the India batters could score only seven runs in five overs since Rahul's departure. Jaiswal completed his half-century in the process but England seemed in control at that stage of the game.

In his bid to prevent the match from drifting away, Stokes then reintroduced Jofra Archer and brought on left-arm spinner Liam Dawson from the other end, in the 39th over of the innings. The move immediately paid off as the 35-year-old Dawson struck in his only seventh ball to send back set batter Jaiswal. Stokes returned a few overs later and almost produced a wicket but wicketkeeper Jamie Smith dropped Sai Sudharsan on the leg side. The reprieve, however, spurred on Stokes as he got the prized scalp of his counterpart from the opposition camp, Gill, who did not offer a shot to a delivery which pitched outside off stump but came back sharply. From thereon, Sai Sudharsan and Rishabh Pant took India forward before the latter got hit in the foot. The ball kissed the bat before hitting Pant on the outside of his right leg. Pant, who was on 37 off 48 then, was treated on the field by the physio but he was in immense pain and unable to land his foot with clear swelling where he was hit. Pant was taken off the field with Ravindra Jadeja replacing him. Sai Sudharshan completed his maiden Test fifty but fell soon after, leaving the contest in balance.

Persuasive coach & willing father behind Kamboj's rise

FIROZ MIRZA @ Manchester

IT'S not unusual for parents to go to any extent to make their children pursue sports of their choice. The story of Anshul Kamboj, India's latest Test debutant, is no different. Father Udham Singh, a middle-class farmer from Fazilpur, Haryana, not only travelled around 80km everyday for almost four years to make sure his overweight son got proper cricket training but also shifted his family to Karnal a few years later for the same reason.

Initially, Singh wanted Anshul to shed some weight and hence got him admitted to Rana Brother's Academy in Karnal when he was 11. But more than Anshul, it was a tiring task for his father. He had to wake up early to drop Anshul to the academy. "Anshul used to ride pillion with his father," Satish Rana, Anshul's childhood coach, told this daily from Karnal. "They had to leave as early as 4AM to reach here by 5. Despite the difficult weather and long journey, the duo never got late."

Australian pacer Glenn McGrath was Anshul's role model and he always wanted to bowl like him. "McGrath was his role model from the beginning," Rana said. "He always wanted to bowl like him. This made him what he is today. One thing that impressed me the most when he first came to my academy was his dedication. He was always ready for challenges and never got distracted. He was focussed on what he has to do in his life. Rana, who played a big role in shaping his ward's formative years, had started to field hundreds of calls as soon as Anshul's debut was confirmed ahead of the fourth Test between India and England at the Old Trafford Ground in Manchester on Wednesday.

Anshul has played 24 First Class matches, claiming 79 wickets and scoring 486 runs with the highest of 51 not out so far. He has also played 25 List A and 30 T20 matches for Haryana. He made his IPL debut last year for Mumbai Indians and then shifted his base to Chennai this year. He was picked up by Chennai Super Kings for ₹3 crore. He featured in eight matches taking eight wickets for the five-time champions in the 2025 edition. He also toured England with India A team, which played two matches against England Lions ahead of the five-match series. Anshul scalped five wickets in the two matches and scored 51 unbeaten, which is also his highest score in red-ball cricket, in the second match. "After around four years, I urged Udham ji to shift to Karnal for the sake of Anshul's career and he didn't have a second thoughts before shifting the family here. The family relocated for Anshul, which itself says a lot about their dedication for his cricketing career. They rented a house here but continued farming in Fazilpur," the coach said. Singh continued to make the journey between the two towns.

The 24-year-old Anshul was at his academy when he got a call from the India team management, who were worried after Arshdeep Singh and Nitish Kumar Reddy had sustained injuries. A groin injury to Akash Deep, who played a key role in India's win at Edgbaston in the second Test, only added to their woes. Anshul, meanwhile, immediately boarded a flight for Manchester and joined the team ahead of the first practice session in England's north. "When he got that call, I asked him to give his best. He is a confident lad as he has played alongside greats of the game in the IPL. Besides, he has been toiling for Haryana in domestic cricket for more than two years. In that sense, he is not new to pressure. But yes, making a Test debut is something else. It's a proud moment for his family, me and the state. Haryana Cricket Association played a big role in his growth as a player." This represents a success story for Rana, whose persuasive powers helped Udham shift his family for the sake of his son. Now, it's time for Kamboj to show the team management his own persuasive powers in India whites.

DOUBLE Olympic medallist and former world champion P V Sindhu overcame sixth seed Tomoka Miyazaki of Japan 21-15, 8-21, 21-17 to reach the round of 16 at the China Open Super 1000 event on Wednesday. Sindhu started strongly, reeling off seven consecutive points to lead 13-5 in the opening game before sealing it comfortably. IOA heading for truce? EC to discuss 'Vision 2036'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

FOR the first time in over 18 months, the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) is organizing a press conference on Thursday. The meet is titled as Powering India's Sporting Aspirations: IOA's Vision 2036.

What seems to be the most interesting part is that it is not called by the IOA president or the warring unit of the Executive Committee. It is called by the Executive Council of the IOA.

There have been indication over the last couple of months that the IOA is on its mending part. The majority of the Executive Committee members had revolted against IOA president PT Usha when Chief Executive Officer Raghuram Iyer was appointed last year in January.

More than 10 EC members had objected to the appointment over Iyer's salary which amounted to Rs 20 lakh a month besides other remunerations. However, the functioning of the IOA did not stop. The National Games in Uttarakhand was conducted even though the event was not passed by the EC. What seemed even more intriguing is that the EC members suddenly fell silent and did not say anything when Usha conducted the Games quite successfully.

Iyer, whose salary was held back by the finance committee and the treasurer, continued to discharge his duties whenever necessary. He was part of the delegation that went to Lausanne to discuss India's 2036 Olympic bid last month. He was there in England when India went to discuss the 2030 Commonwealth Games.

Mending the IOA would be the right move because of the International Olympic Committee (IOC) that had been insisting that India needed to have a strong organization to make a successful bid. It said that India must resolve its internal issues as early as possible or it might jeopardize the bid which the government is keen to make it successful.

Recently, two prominent EC members treasurer of IOA Sahdev Yadav, who was the most vocal of the lot, and Bhupinder Singh Bajwa were part of a committee to see into the election matter of the Boxing Federation of India (BFI). It needs to be seen when the finance committee release the salaries of two persons – the CEO and the IOA president's Executive assistant.

The sports ministry too seemed to be keen on IOA finding an amicable solution.

Varkala voyage

Our weekend itinerary to Kerala's cliff-side coastal town is all yours to borrow if you wish to take a quick seaside monsoon getaway...

SRUSHTI KULKARNI

When the monsoon hits and the city begins to feel stifling, few things soothe the soul quite like a coastal getaway — one where time slows, the air smells of salt and rain and your only agenda is to be present, but of course with a hot cup of joe. While the west coast offers several such getaways, this time, we picked the quaint cliff-side town of Varkala in Kerala.

With options to arrive by rail, road or air (Thiruvananthapuram is the nearest airport), Varkala's connectivity makes it a no-brainer for spontaneous weekenders. Whether you're planning a solo trip, romantic retreat or a friends' meet-up, there's accommodation to suit every kind of traveller — be it a beach-facing villa, an earthy Airbnb or the ever-social Zostel, perched right by the cliffs. Our first morning began with a quick check-in followed by a slow brunch at InDa Café, a charming spot offering clean, hearty fare perfect for fuelling up before a day out on the road.

With rains teasing the coast and beaches under yellow alert, we opted for auto rickshaws over scooty rentals and headed straight to Jatayu Earth Centre — an underrated gem that deserves far more hype. With a swanky terminal that puts some airport lounges to shame, the centre offers cable car rides leading up to the world's largest bird sculpture. The view from the top is breathtaking; here you can sip on your coffee while befriending monkeys. The accompanying Ram temple offers a spiritual pause, though their theatre and museum remain a work in progress.

Next, we took the scenic route to Kappil Beach and the gorgeous Backwater Road — a slender strip of tarmac flanked by water on either side was worth every minute of the short pause. It's the kind of place where the only soundtrack you need is your silence complementing the waves or perhaps the occasional call of a kingfisher. As the sun dipped, we made our way to the Mangrove Forest for a golden-hour kayaking session. You can also opt for a laid-back country boat ride, to float beneath the canopy of rain-kissed leaves that drip rhythmically into the water. It's slow travel in the purest form.

Evenings in Varkala are best enjoyed with music and ocean views. Choose between Trip is Life Café, known for its eclectic vibe and fusion food or Sandy Bar, where cocktails flow and feet often find their way to the dance floor. Or better yet — do both.

We kicked off our second day early with a spiritual detour — first to the centuries-old Janardanaswamy Temple and then to the peaceful Sivagiri Mutt. Both are soaked in history and offer a rare glimpse into Kerala's spiritual legacy.

Café Sarwaa, perched elegantly on the cliff, was our breakfast haven. Between the panoramic vistas, lovingly brewed coffee and their excellent spread of sandwiches and smoothie bowls, this spot is one of Varkala's best-kept secrets. They even have their own private beach tucked away beneath the cliffs — perfect for a post-meal laze. If you're still undecided on where to stay, Hotel Nidra, nestled within the same leafy premises, is an equally delightful option.

If you've got time (and the rains aren't in the way), Munroe Island or Golden Island make for worthy half-day trips. But should the weather keep you close, Varkala still delivers. Sign up for a yoga session or indulge in a deeply relaxing Shirodhara treatment at Prana Spa, where Ayurvedic traditions are practised with care, professionalism and authenticity.

Before leaving, make time for some shopping at the North Cliff. The markets are buzzing with local crafts, breezy resort wear, handmade jewellery and souvenirs you'll actually want to keep. Murals and street art liven up the alleyways. Murals and street art liven up the alleyways. We missed out on Black Beach, paragliding and even surfing lessons this time — monsoon casualties — but that only gives us a reason to return.

Changi Airport ANNOUNCES FREE TRIPS TO SENTOSA ISLAND FOR TRANSIT PASSENGERS

BY SRUSHTI KULKARNI

Singapore was already the world's most tempting layover destination and with the new option of exploring the Lion City's adventurous isle, it's bound to attract more tourists...

SINGAPORE'S Changi Airport has long held its place as a global gold standard for transit experiences, but now, it's raised the bar even higher. In an exciting move for globe-trotters, transit and transfer passengers flying Singapore Airlines, Scoot or Air India can now enjoy free tours to Sentosa, the city-state's island playground. This limited-time offer includes guided transport from Changi to Sentosa, giving weary flyers a chance to turn their in-between hours into a breezy beachside holiday.

For seasoned travellers, Changi has never been just a stopover — it's a destination in itself. With its butterfly garden, rooftop pool, cinema, shopping centres, souvenirs and the iconic Jewel with its rain vortex, the airport makes even the longest layovers feel indulgent. But with this latest initiative, Singapore is clearly signalling that it wants to go beyond being merely efficient — it wants to become unforgettable.

The existing Free Singapore Tour, a long-time favourite, whisks passengers into the city for an experience of Marina Bay Sands, the Merlion and Kampong Glam. The Changi Transit Programme, which gifts SIA flyers with shopping vouchers, has been another sweetener. But this Sentosa escapade — offered in collaboration with the Singapore Tourism Board and Sentosa Development Corporation — adds a sun-kissed, resort-style twist to the mix.

So what awaits on this free Sentosa journey? Think panoramic cable car rides, a stroll through Fort Siloso's heritage trail, tranquil beaches and photo ops at the Sentosa SkyJet — Asia's tallest fountain. Depending on your flight timings, you might even squeeze in a quick thrill at Adventure Cove or simply sip a coconut by Siloso Beach before your next connection. In the battle of the world's best airports, Changi has always been a contender. But with tropical islands now just a complimentary shuttle ride away, Singapore may have just become the layover no one wants to let go.

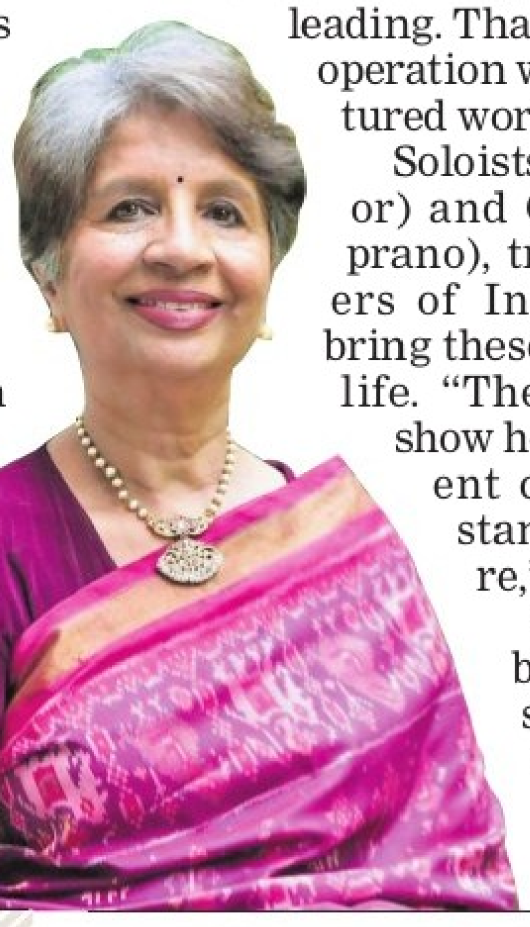
Ex-career diplomat Nirupama Rao speaks with CE about her brainchild, South Asian Symphony Orchestra, its upcoming concerts and her passion for music

OPERATIC TAKE

ANJALI RAM

MUSIC is often labelled as a universal language that transcends differences – boundaries, time and space. For former diplomat Nirupama Rao, music is one such passion that brings peace – her brainchild, South Asian Symphony Orchestra (SASO), is a bridge towards the idea. "Music has always been a deep and abiding passion of mine. It travels across borders, transcends politics, and speaks of our shared humanity," she says.



Founded in 2018, SASO has been more than a musical collective for Rao. The orchestra exemplifies what she calls cultural diplomacy, where music facilitates dialogue, fosters empathy, and nurtures understanding among nations that often find themselves amidst hurdles.

The orchestra is now gearing up for a trio of events in the city with a full-length operatic concert themed around passion, drama and love. It will feature excerpts from Bizet's Carmen, Verdi's La traviata, and Gounod's Roméo et Juliette."We chose these works for their emotional depth and universal themes. Whether it's love, resilience, or identity – these emotions unite us," Rao explains. "It's about creating a musical journey that blends Western classical traditions with South Asian emotionality and openness to global influences."

For Rao, the orchestra mirrors an ideal society – diverse, collaborative, and deeply attuned to each other. "An orchestra is a metaphor. It teaches us that listening is just as vital as leading. That's the model of cooperation we need in our fractured world," she notes.

Soloists Alok Kumar (tenor) and Cheryl Bains (soprano), trained opera singers of Indian origin, will bring these global classics to life. "These performances show how South Asian talent can rise to global standards in this genre," she explains.

The concerts will be followed by a musical collaboration and leadership workshop, which will be open to music enthusiasts, students, and the curious alike. "The workshop will offer a close-up view of how the magic of performance comes together," says Rao, further adding, "It's not just for trained musicians but also anyone curious about the arts."

Participants can also interact with Alok Kumar, conductor Maria Badstue, and pianist Soundarie David-Rodrigo, among others, to understand the nuances of operatic performance and orchestral synergy. "It's about nurturing the next generation not just technically, but emotionally and artistically," she adds.

Despite a demanding career as a writer and singer, the former ambassador notes that she finds the greatest fulfilment in music. "Music is the most immediate and soul-stirring of all my pursuits. The orchestra gives strangers a shared identity. It's about healing, storytelling, and forging connections that words alone cannot," she adds.

And what message does she have for young musicians and art educators? "Strive for perfection. Never stop learning. Carry with you discipline and openness to the world beyond your borders," she concludes.

(The concerts will be held at Christ University on August 2 (5pm) and at Bangalore International Centre on August 3 (from 6pm), followed by a workshop at Sabha Blr on August 4 (from 7pm). For more details, visit: symphonyofsouthasia.org)

Do I need to consume protein powders? How to ensure it's beneficial?

You don't need protein powder to be fit. You need adequate protein for recovery and muscle repair. If you're getting it from food (eggs, lentils, tofu, paneer, chicken, fish, etc.), and meeting your daily needs, you don't need to supplement it. But if your meals are falling short, especially if you're training hard, trying to build muscle or lose fat, then a quality protein powder can fill the gap.

- Whey isolate is fast-absorbing and great post workout. If you're lactose intolerant or vegan, go for a clean plant-based blend pea and rice one.

ASK AN XPERT

- Look for good brands with fewer, cleaner, and known ingredients. Avoid added sugars, artificial sweeteners, flavours or chemical-sounding names.
- Most protein supplements give 20-25g per serving. Ensure that the product is third-party tested.
- Protein powder is a supplement, do not replace meals or real food with it. The goal is nutrition that works for your life, not trends that make you feel like you're missing out.

PARIVRTTA SUKHASANA NAMASTE HANDS (EASY POSE IN PRAYER TWIST)

This is a grounding practice, which is a variation of Revolved Easy Pose, done with hands in Anjali Mudra. Though twisting is a great way to de-stress the body, when practised with hands in Namaskar Mudra, it helps to keep the chest open and lifted, and the shoulders broad. Thus, it allows one to experience the feeling of relaxation with a sense of balance, not only physically but also mentally and emotionally. The practice ensures that the spine is lengthened while adding a gentle massage to the abdominal area.

STEPS

- Start in Sukhasana. Keep a folded blanket or cushion under the hips, if needed. Keep the palms together at the heart in Anjali Mudra, with your head, neck, and back in one line. Keep your shoulders broad and chest lifted.
- Inhale-exhale naturally. Inhale, lengthen your spine, and exhale, twist your upper body to the right from the lower spine.
- Remain here with your facial muscles relaxed and eyes closed or softly gazing at a point for about 3 breaths.
- Make sure you are not twisting or turning the shoulders, or moving the prayer hands or the neck to look back.
- To release, inhale, turn the upper body to bring it back to the centre.
- Take a nice and long breath in and while exhaling twist to the left to counter the stretch.
- Inhale to come back to the centre in Easy Pose. Slowly, stretch the legs out in Dandasana and place the palms behind the back to relax.

LIMITATIONS

- Students with injury in the spine, shoulders, wrist, elbows, lower back, pelvic floor muscles, or have had abdominal injury/surgery should take it slow under the guidance of a teacher.
- Those who have injuries in the knees, hip, or ankle avoid this.
- Students with lower back pain, weak knees or arthritis in knees (especially seniors) or even a ligament tear or injury should follow the practice seated on a chair.
- People who find sitting on the floor painful use blankets or pillows under the hips or knees.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the upper chest, spine, and shoulders.
- Builds strength in the chest, shoulders, spine and lower back muscles.
- Help to create more space for the ribs to expand.
- Also helps in the functioning of the lungs and increases its capacity, making it a gentle heart opener.
- Palms softly pressed to each other enhance focus and improve memory.
- Heart Chakra brings balance and harmony physically, mentally, and emotionally.
- Energises the body by offering peace and mental calm.
- Gives a feeling of being grounded to the earth while being lifted and lengthened up towards the sky.
- Helps to free the mind from unwanted thoughts and worries, detoxifying the body and mind.
- Squeeze and soak action in the lower abdomen massages the internal organs and improves the functioning of the digestive and reproductive organs.
- Various body systems like the respiratory, circulatory, and nervous systems get impacted.
- Included in yoga for seniors and pregnant women, and can be practised even during menstruation.
- Good for students to ease and relax the lower back.

Here are a few mental health experts-backed self-care tips that you can put to use in your daily life

ANJALI RAM

IN a world that never slows down, one often tends to forget to take good care of oneself. Between digital distractions and relentless deadlines, consistent and gentle means of self-care become a far-fetched dream. On Self-Care Day, Bengaluru's medical experts share simple ways to bring self-care back to your routine, no matter how hectic life gets.

For working professionals

- According to Dr Diwakar Goutham, senior consultant (psychiatry), Narayana Health City, self-care is not reserved for weekends. "It's about recognising that you deserve to be cared for at every point in your day," he says.
- Begin your day with a glass of water and a few deep breaths before checking your phone.
- Walk part of your commute to reconnect body and mind.
- Practice gratitude for small joys: a warm cup of tea, a kind gesture, or quiet moments. Use your commute to unwind with calming music or podcasts.
- "Keep Boundaries at work. It is crucial. Be assertive and time-bound," shares Devyani Todi, clinical psychologist
- Turn off e-mail notifications after work hours to avoid burnout.
- Place affirming quotes or photos at your workspace for emotional grounding.
- Prioritise 7-8 hours of sleep and regular, nourishing meals.
- Identify signs of burnout - fatigue, irritability, sleeplessness- and pause.

For students

- Use study techniques like the Pomodoro Method (25-minute study, 5-minute break). "Health and learning are not competitors - they are partners," says Dr Goutham.
- Take outdoor breaks, practice deep breathing, and allow yourself to rest.
- Join peer study groups and talk openly about academic stress. "Set realistic goals and reach out for support. Avoid late-night screen time", adds Todi.

Digital wellbeing

- "One should keep tech-free zones and stop scrolling before bed," notes Ruth Sukruti, wellness educator
- Limit digital use 30 to 60 minutes before bedtime.
- Read a physical book, cook, paint, or call a friend.
- Use tools to track screen time and reduce doomscrolling.
- Curate positive content and avoid draining feeds.
- Unplug regularly to feel renewed and focused.

But are these micro self-care habits easy? Sukruthi advises taking baby steps. "Do one joyful thing daily - it helps balance emotion," she says.

The writer-director of Kothalavadi opens up on his upcoming rural action drama rooted in village politics, emotion, and choosing Pruthvi Ambaar for the film, which is backed by producer Pushpa Arun Kumar

WE'RE NOT BANKING ON HYPE, THE STORY HAS TO WIN: SHRI RAJ

Shri Raj

ASHARADHAA

SHRI Raj, the director of Kothalavadi, believes that rural commercial stories are getting attention today, and his film starring Pruthvi Ambaar and Kavya Shaiva, in her debut, aims to make a difference. The film will be released on August 1, and the trailer, which was released recently, showcases a gritty village-style action and emotional drama rooted in local politics.

Shri Raj, who wrote the film, acknowledges that he wanted to highlight themes that are often ignored. "There's still innocence in villages. While we sit in Bengaluru talking about change, real politics, power struggles, and strong emotions remain part of rural life," he says. "That's what Kothalavadi focuses on; when someone is given power, they have to bear its weight. But when that power is taken away, it creates a storm. This cycle continues in our villages today."

The director mentions that the film combines family drama, village politics, action, sentiment, and human greed. "We've blended all these elements to make it vibrant. It's based on something real. I didn't want to polish or sugarcoat anything. Cinema should reflect life," he explains.

Shri Raj believes in telling raw and honest stories. "Kannada has talented writers and filmmakers. We've seen great cinema in the past. Somewhere along the way, we lost touch with the audience. The content needs to reach them again. That's the aim of Kothalavadi," he adds.

The film's cast and crew also add to its excitement, especially with Pushpa Arun Kumar, mother of superstar Yash, producing the project. "There's interest because of Pushpa ma'am's involvement," Shri Raj admits. "But beyond that, the story should speak. Even with a big name attached, if the content doesn't work, nothing else will. As a director, my goal is to make a good film. Pushpa ma'am supported me completely. She gave me freedom and trusted my vision."

Kothalavadi features Pruthvi Ambaar, who is usually seen in soft, romantic roles. This film gives him a complete makeover. "I've known Pruthvi for a long time," Shri Raj shares. "He's often seen as a chocolate boy, but I always felt he had more to express. I wanted to uncover that different, intense side of him. He plays an angry young man fighting for justice. It's intense action, but it also has depth."

The action sequences serve to highlight the fight for truth and justice within the story. Shri Raj explains, "Action isn't just for excitement here. It illustrates struggle, power, and resistance. Pruthvi has done a fantastic job bringing that intensity to life."

Kavya Shaiva, making the shift from television to film, plays the female lead, a traditional village girl. This role demanded depth, simplicity, and a strong presence. "I didn't want a glam doll. I needed someone who could portray authenticity and fit the story's world. Kavya did that exceptionally well. She connected with the character, bringing fresh energy to the film."

Veteran actors like Gopalakrishna Deshpande and Rajesh Nataranga have significant roles in the film. "They aren't just minor characters," the director emphasises. "They are essential to the story. Their presence adds depth and emotion."

The cinematography for Kothalavadi is handled by Shiva Seena, while the music is composed by Sachin Basrur. The film is edited by KM Prakash, with art direction by Mohan B Kere.

While Kothalavadi might appear as an action-packed rural drama on the surface, Shri Raj assures there's much more underneath. "Yes, we have fights, emotions, and politics. But there's also a family story at the heart. We address power, greed, and love. The film is filled with moments that will resonate with the audience."

He believes Kannada audiences are ready for more relatable stories if they are told well. "Our people connect with the truth. They relate to struggle and emotion. Kothalavadi attempts to tell such a story—raw, simple, and real."

As the film's release approaches, the team is optimistic. "There's excitement, which is a good sign," Shri Raj reflects. "But we aren't relying on hype. Ultimately, the story must prevail."

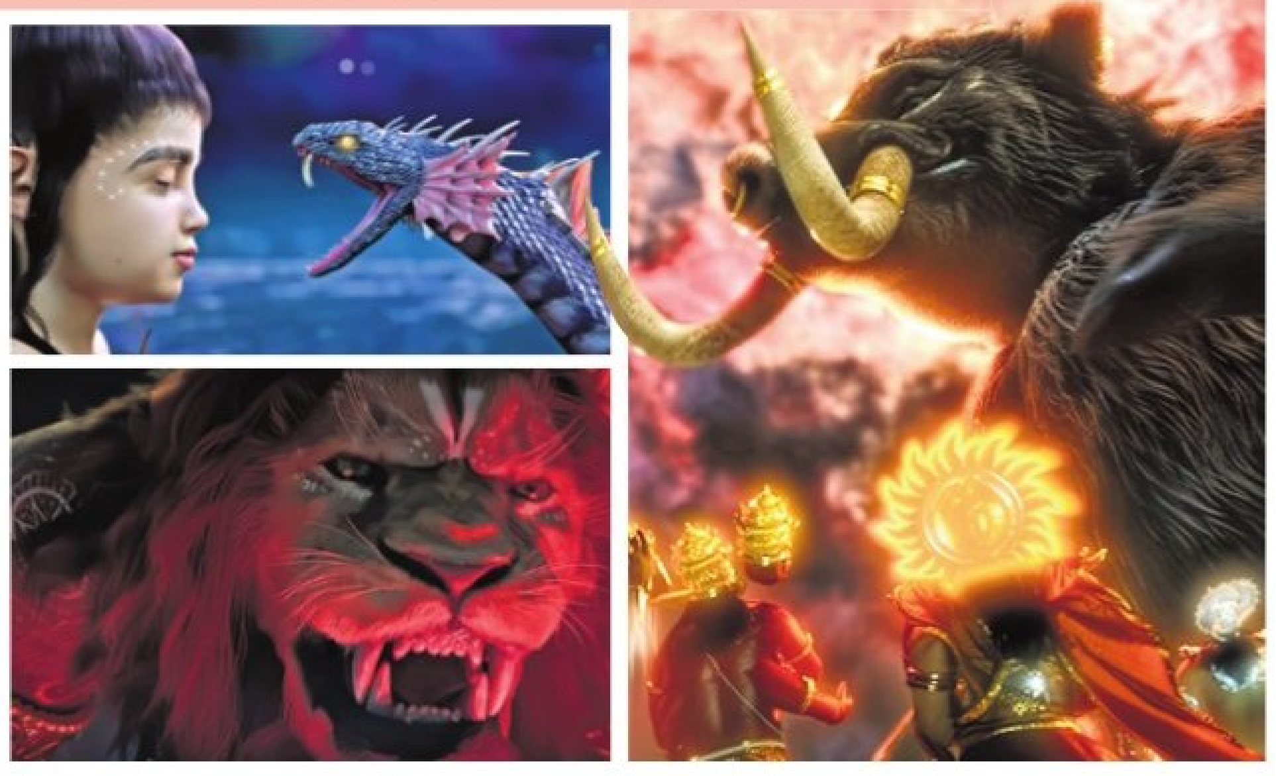
Hombale Films to release the animated film across 100 screens in Karnataka

Team Mahavatar Narasimha



HOMBALE Films is set to present a fresh animated experience on the big screen with Mahavatar Narasimha, directed by Ashwin Kumar. Interestingly, the director was inspired by the timeless stories of Dr. Rajkumar and Puneeth Rajkumar, and he is confident that his upcoming animated film will offer a rich and spiritually moving experience when it premieres on July 25 in Kannada, Hindi, Tamil, Telugu, and Malayalam.

In an interaction with the media, Ashwin said, "In 2018, a few friends and I were discussing Bhakta Prahlada. That conversation led me to revisit mythological texts and classic films, including the Kannada Bhakta Prahlada. That's when the idea for Mahavatar Narasimha took shape. We used Bhakta Prahlada and similar films as the base and began working on the script. It took us over five years to bring this film to life. Creating a full-fledged animated feature was challenging, with several technical hurdles, but we completed it with dedication. We now plan to continue this series with Mahavatar Parashurama, making it one of the few large-scale animated film franchises to be launched in multiple languages."

The film is produced by Shilpa Dhawan, Ashwin Kumar's wife, under the banner Clean Productions. Sharing her thoughts, she said, "This is our debut production, and we are thrilled to partner with Hombale Films for its release. The film is made with high-end animation techniques and is a Kannada original, not a dubbed version. We hope to create more unique stories under our banner."

Adarsh, representing Hombale Films, stated that the production house plans to release the film in over 100 theatres across Karnataka. With its mythological depth, cultural roots, and modern animation, the makers hope that Mahavatar Narasimha will appeal to both children and adults, marking a step forward in the exploration of animated storytelling.
